Missing Tanker Ship Added To List of Sea Mysteries

NEW YORK (AP)—The American tanker Marine Sulphur Queen which disappeared Feb. 3 with its crew of 39, has been added to the list of mysteries of the sea.

The Coast Guard announced Wednesday night it was calling off the active search for the vessel although all units have been directed to maintain a "sharp lookout" for the missing ship during normal operations.

The Coast Guard declined to speculate on the ship's fate. But it noted that a 500-hour search of the Atlantic and Gulf of Mexico by 63 aircraft had failed to turn up a trace of her.

The 15,000-ton tanker, with a cargo of liquid sulphur, left Beaumont, Tex., Feb. 2, for Norfolk, Va. An air and sea search, launched after the vessel and her 39 crewmen failed to reach port at noon last Thursday, has failed to turn up any trace of the ship.

There were no aircraft, no radio communications when the SS City of Glasgow left Liverpool for Philadelphia in March, 1854, with 450 passengers and crewmen. The liner vanished.

So did the USS Albany, which left Colon, Sept. 2, the same year, with 193 officers and men aboard.

The city of Boston sailed from New York with 177 passengers and crewmen Jan. 28 1870, bound for Liverpool. She sailed into eternity.

Stranger than fiction was the disappearance in 1885 of the British freighters Fernwood (25 men), Preston (29 men), and Clanders (27 men) and Humber (53 men). The Fernwood and Preston set sail together Jan. 20. The Clanders followed Jan. 24, and the Humber left the Thames Feb. 15. The Thanemore (43 crewmen) also vanished in 1885.

June 14, 1918, the USS Cyclops with 309 men left Barbados and was mysteriously lost.

July 13, 1923, the Mallory liner Swift Star, with a crew of 33, left the Atlantic end of the Panama Canal and passed beyond the horizons of man.

The French freighter Monique, with 120 crewmen and passengers, sailed from New Caledonia Aug. 1, 1953, and the sea claimed her.

Nov. 7, 1872 the brig Mary Celest left New York for Genoa.

A month later the Mary Celest, her cargo of alcohol intact, her sails set but limp, was found becalmed 400 miles west of Gibraltar.

There was no trace of the crew.

Well Digger Is Rescued From Cave-in LAKE TOMAHAWK, Wis. (AP)—A well digger buried up to his shoulders in shifting sand since mid-afternoon Wednesday was pulled free early today and appeared to be in good condition.

Raymond (Fuzzy) Fink, 31, was freed at 5:40 a.m., 14½ hours after he was buried in a cave-in of sand near this northern Wisconsin community.

"I'm okay, Honey; I'm okay, Honey," Fink said as he embraced his wife who had kept a night-long vigil.

Fink walked away from the pit with just slight help. He was taken to Lakeland Memorial Hospital in nearby Woodruff despite protests that he was all right.

Dr. Charles H. Flint said at the hospital, "We'll keep him here to make some checks and take X-rays, but his heart and lungs are fine. He's pretty darned tough." Dr. Flint was present when Fink was pulled from the ground. "I think they brought him up through the hole he had been caught in," the doctor said.

Another source said Fink was pulled straight up after rescuers had dug a tunnel from his side.

A cheer went up from the rescue crew as he was drawn free. Fink rejected an offer of a stretcher and other help.

"I feel fine. I can walk. I can make it on my own," he said.

'Outrageous' Rhodes Staff Salaries Hit

Senate Minority Chief Levels Attack on 'Austerity' Program

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Statehouse was rocking gently today, exactly one month after the inauguration of Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes in reaction from charges the governor is paying outrageous salaries to his personal staff.

The word "outrageous" came from Senate Minority Leader Frank W. King, Toledo Democrat. His comment in a Senate speech was based on a newspaper article written by Richard G. Zimmerman, Columbus correspondent for the Lorain Journal and the Mansfield News-Journal.

King was most agast, he said, over the $1,000-a-month salary for Miss Emma Scholz "in the middle of an austerity program when thousands of state employees are being lopped off the payroll under the guise of economy."

While the record shows Miss Scholz was paid at the rate of $1,000 a month for her first half-month as the governor's private secretary, the record also shows that she will be paid only at the rate of $825 a month in her pay check she will receive Friday. That means she will receive $9,900 a year against her $7,900 a year when she was secretary to Auditor Rhodes.

Zimmerman pointed out that the top salary ever received by former Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's secretary was $7,500.

John M. McElroy, a $15,000-a-year assistant to Rhodes, issued a statement designed to counter-act King's blast. He asserted that in comparable periods at the start of the DiSalle and Rhodes administrations, DiSalle's payroll was higher than Rhodes'.

McElroy said Rhodes' payroll for two weeks ending next Fri-

Flu in Cincy Given Blame For 2 Deaths

CINCINNATI (AP)—An apparent epidemic of influenza has claimed two lives in the Cincinnati area and given thousands of schoolchildren an unpleasant holiday from classes.

Health officials said tests on samples to determine the type of virus won't be completed until Friday. "It could be some other virus," said Dr. D. A. Cockburn, assistant Cincinnati health commissioner.

The Health Department would say only that one victim was a woman and the other was a baby.

Admissions for respiratory illnesses at some hospitals were reported at three to four times normal. Some hospitals said the disease had hit parts of their staffs.

Even Dr. J. Edwin Reed, Hamilton County health commissioner, was too sick to work Wednesday.

Most public schools in the area reported 10 to 15 per cent of their pupils absent, but the rate was more than 20 per cent at several schools. One school had almost one-third of its pupils absent.

The bug was hitting the teachers, too, with about 10 per cent missing classes Wednesday.

Syncom Communications Satellite Now In Orbit, but Radio Contact Is Lost

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A Syncom communications satellite rocketed into orbit today but loss of radio contact with the spacecraft prevented trackers from determining if it had become the world's first satellite to seemingly stand still in space.

A program official reported in midmorning, several hours after launching, that radio signals were lost 13 seconds after a small payload motor fired with the intention of kicking Syncom into a synchronous orbit—one in which the vehicle appears to hover over one spot on earth because its speed matches that of the earth's rotation.

The satellite was launched at 12:35 a.m. by a three-stage Delta rocket which performed perfectly in drilling the craft into a giant egg-shaped orbit at about 22,800 miles an hour.

Syncom coasted up, gradually losing speed, until it reached a point about 22,300 miles high. Then a timing device ignited the small rocket at 5:42 a.m.

The firing was to take the satellite out of the elliptical path and shove it onto a circular course at that altitude.

"The motor fired successfully," the official said, "but radio signals stopped 13 seconds later. We regained a brief signal about 7 a.m., but nothing more. We may be in a beautiful orbit and just encountering transmission difficulties."

But he said the kick rocket might have knocked the craft off course.

There was a possibility, he said, that temperature in the satellite was too hot, upsetting communications. As a possible means of solving such a problem, he reported, the spacecraft systems were turned off and will be restored by ground signal later.

The trusty three-stage Douglas Delta rocket, scoring its 15th straight satellite launching success, blasted off at 12:35 a.m. (Eastern Standard Time) and drilled Syncom into a highly elliptical orbit at 22,800 miles an hour.

The mechanical marvel coasted upward for 5 hours and 7 minutes until it reached near the 22,300-mile altitude. Then a small solid fuel rocket was fired by a timing device to change the orbit from elongated to circular at this height.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced that the two critical early phases of flight—the launching and the firing of the small rocket—had occurred.

But it said that several hours of tracking would be required to determine how successfully the ignition of the small rocket had been.

The firing occurred high above the equator between Madagascar and the East African Coast. During the long coast period, the satellite

Conservation, Home Town Corps Urged

President Cites Need To Give Opportunity To Young of Nation

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy wrapped together in a single unprecedented package today all his proposals to aid the nation's youth. He sent it to Congress with word that "our youth deserve and require a better chance."

"We must afford them every opportunity to develop and use their talents," Kennedy said. "If we serve them better now, they will serve their nation better when the burdens are theirs alone."

Accordingly, Kennedy asked Congress for legislation and financing on a broad scale.

He bid for a "Youth Conservation Corps" to work in parks and forests. He urged creation of a sort of home town youth corps. He called again for a domestic peace corps—it would be named the National Service Corps. He asked that the existing Peace Corps overseas be expanded by nearly one-half.

And the President emphasized need for action on juvenile delinquency, family welfare, education and health and physical fitness.

The total price tag for all the projects is obscure, even though Kennedy has recommended all of them before in general if not specific terms.

Kennedy buttressed the plea for action with figures and arguments he has used many times. He spoke of the mounting birth rate, the over-crowding of schools, the growing proportion of unemployment among young people, the increase in juvenile arrests and delinquency.

As outlined in the message and by officials who would have some of the responsibility for them, the various corps would shape up this way:

Youth Conservation Corps — a present day version of the Civilian Conservation Corps that built

Jetliner Fall Is Blamed on Thunderstorm

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Blustery Florida weather got the tentative blame today for a Northwest Orient Airline jetliner's plunge into the Everglades with loss of 43 lives.

A federal investigator who would not be quoted by name said the plane apparently "broke apart in a thunderstorm. It just wrenched apart."

Rain and gusty winds ruffled Florida Tuesday, the day of the crash, unroofing some dwellings and prompting tornado warnings in north and central portions of the state.

The Civil Aeronautics Board sent investigators to the marshy scene of the four-engine Boeing 720B's tragic plunge, nine miles from the nearest road, but said its findings would not be made public for several days.

The CAB and other investigative agencies apparently were not prepared to say the airplane blew apart in flight. But officers who explored the crash scene said bodies and other substantial debris of the crash were scattered within a radius of more than 200 yards of the shattered aircraft, and made dents of one foot or more in the spongy, yielding ground surface of the swampy region. This indicated some of the occupants and baggage of the plane reached the earth in a "free fall" outside the stricken airliner's fuselage.

2 Suspects Picked Up In Columbus Burglary

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Burglars stole an estimated $10,000 worth of clothing from the James V. Walker Suburban — East store here early today. An hour after the burglary, police picked up two suspects for questioning.

Police, alerted by an automatic alarm system, arrived at the store to find the burglars gone but about 100 men's suits and a variety of other clothing missing.

'Outrageous' Rhodes Staff Salaries Hit

Senate Minority Chief Levels Attack on 'Austerity' Program

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Statehouse was rocking gently today, exactly one month after the inauguration of Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes in reaction from charges the governor is paying outrageous salaries to his personal staff.

The word "outrageous" came from Senate Minority Leader Frank W. King, Toledo Democrat. His comment in a Senate speech was based on a newspaper article written by Richard G. Zimmerman, Columbus correspondent for the Lorain Journal and the Mansfield News-Journal.

King was most aghast, he said, over the $1,000-a-month salary for Miss Emma Scholz "in the middle of an austerity program when thousands of state employees are being lopped off the payroll under the guise of economy."

While the record shows Miss Scholz was paid at the rate of $1,000 a month for her first half-month as the governor's private secretary, the record also shows that she will be paid only at the rate of $825 a month in her pay check she will receive Friday.

That means she will receive $9,900 a year against her $7,900 a year when she was secretary to Auditor Rhodes.

Zimmerman pointed out that the top salary ever received by former Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's secretary was $7,500.

John M. McElroy, a $15,000-a-year assistant to Rhodes, issued a statement designed to counteract King's blast. He asserted that in comparable periods at the start of the DiSalle and Rhodes administrations, DiSalle's payroll was higher than Rhodes'.

McElroy said Rhodes' payroll for two weeks ending next Friday was $15,000.

Secretaries Proven 'Fit'

Capital Office Aides Take Lengthy Hikes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The congressional secretaries who plodded miles from dawn to dusk to prove there's some physical fitness on Capitol Hill say they would do it again.

"Who knows—I might make 50 the next time," said Mary McCasie, 20, Washington, a secretary to Rep. Cornelius E. Gallagher, D-N.J.

Mary and Maria Jania, Detroit, secretary to Rep. Lucien N. Nedzi, D-Mich., hiked 27 miles Wednesday, dropping out at an early dusk—about 4 p. m.

But five others kept walking, walking and walking—until 6:15 p. m. They made 32 miles in a little less than 12 hours.

"We're happy, we're proud, and we feel great," said Shia Green, 25, New York, secretary to Rep. Charles S. Joelson, D-N.J.

But they weren't dancing any jigs. And they all admitted they had in mind home and a hot bath.

Nobody was complaining of blisters. The only casualty was a cut foot for Jackie McDonald, 23, of St. Louis, secretary to Rep. Richard Ichord, D-Mo. She stepped on some broken glass, which pierced the sole of her boot. But that didn't deter her.

President Kennedy had suggested last week that some Marines see if they could hike the magic number—50 miles—mentioned in a 1908 executive order by Theodore Roosevelt.

The girls hiked a few miles up the towpath of the old Chesapeake & Ohio Canal, an historic trail for hikers.

Carolyn White, 21, Washington, secretary to Rep. Frank Thompson, D-N.J., was ready to keep on walking even after dusk. Alice Schneider, 22, Cincinnati, secretary to Rep. Donald Clancy, R-Ohio said she felt great.

Evangelist, Ex-General Book Speeches in Ohio

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Evangelist Bill James Hargis and former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker plan to make a joint nationwide speaking tour beginning Feb. 27.

Disturbed Man Is Quelled, Seeks To Impeach President

WASHINGTON (AP)—A disturbed man who wanted to "take his trouble right to the top" gave historic Pennsylvania Avenue a bad case of heebie-jeebies with a two-hour bomb scare.

Nathan Wise, 33, of Phoenix, Ariz., wheeled his car out of the noon hour traffic Wednesday and drove it up on the steps of the Justice Department building. Swiftly crawling under it, Wise demanded to see FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover—the only man he said he could trust.

He had evidence, he said, to "impeach President Kennedy and his Cabinet."

His car also gave the impression of a great homemade bomb. Police who approached him got a strong whiff of gasoline and spotted a strange suitcase wired to the bottom of the car.

"I won't come out," Wise told them. "I'll die right here. I'll never leave here alive. Don't come near me or I'll blow the place up."

They Always Do Everything Alike

LONDON (AP) — Pamela Ellerton gave birth to a son in Lythkam, Lancashire, England, at 4:30 a.m.

Mrs. Ellerton and Mrs. Cramer are identical twins.

Cold Cars Started By Kitchen Gadget

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—Jerry Havenhill eats breakfast with a black box at his elbow. It has switches and signal lights. He flips a switch. It starts the engine of his car, parked outside.

Another switch starts the engine of his wife's car.

A few minutes later, Havenhill, 24, flips two more switches and the car heaters go on.

"I didn't like sitting out in the cold and waiting for the engine to warm up and then waiting for the heater to produce heat," Havenhill explains, "so I went to work on this system several months ago."

He is an engineer at an electronics plant.

U.N. Cuban Aid To Draw Fire

U.S. Solons Expected To Voice Protests

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Diplomatic observers expect U.S. congressmen to speak out soon against the decision by the U.N. Special Fund to spend $1,157,600 on an agricultural research station in Cuba.

Communist officials are considered certain to reply with charges that the United States is trying to use its contributions to the United Nations as a cold war weapon.

Despite U.S. government protests, the special fund announced Wednesday that it will start the long-delayed five-year project at Santiago de Las Vegas in three or four months, as soon as it recruits the necessary foreign experts.

Paul G. Hoffman, an American who is managing director of the fund, said that although the United States puts up 40 per cent of the organization's total funds, "We will not use one single American dollar" on the Cuban project.

U.S. sources said they understood technicians from the Soviet bloc or other non-American countries will carry out the project and would be paid in non-dollar currencies.

In Phoenix, Wise's mother, Mrs. Abe Wise, said her son had cracked up about a year ago after his father's death.

"Please," she said, "I know he's sick. Tell them in Washington they should help him. We've been trying to help him. He needs help so badly."

His wife Joan said Wise, associated with a department store, had been under psychiatric treatment.

At the hospital Wise was told the handcuffs could be removed if he would behave himself.

"I always behave myself," he said.

He muttered: "That's what happens to you when you're trying to do something good."

However, he refused to explain what he was trying to do, saying only, "Hoover knows what I'm here for."

More Non-Nuclear Tests Due in Nevada Desert

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—More non-nuclear test explosions are planned by the Atomic Energy Commission, the new series to start in April and run through June.

These, a spokesman said Wednesday, will be conducted at the Tonopah Test Range, 50 miles southeast of Tonopah, Nev., as a joint effort with the Department of Defense.

Escapee Held For Holdup

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—E. D. Mason, officer in charge of the Cincinnati FBI office, announced today that 26-year-old Phillip Roger Kelly of Springfield had been charged with the Feb. 1 holdup of the Sciotoville branch of the Portsmouth National Bank.

Kelly was one of five men who escaped from the Franklin County Jail Jan. 1. He was arrested Feb. 8 in a cabin near Waverly in Pike County and now is in Franklin County Jail.

A gunman took $4,210 in the holdup of the branch bank.

At the same time, Mason announced the arrest of Woodrow Stevens, 50, of Rt. 1, Beaver, on a charge of receiving proceeds of the robbery. He said detectives and FBI agents had recovered $1,404 of the stolen money near Stevens' home. They said the cash was in three jars buried in the snow.

Conservation, Home Town Corps Urged

President Cites Need To Give Opportunity To Young of Nation

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy wrapped together in a single unprecedented package today all his proposals to aid the nation's youth. He sent it to Congress with word that "our youth deserve and require a better chance."

"We must afford them every opportunity to develop and use their talents," Kennedy said. "If we serve them better now, they will serve their nation better when the burdens are theirs alone."

Accordingly, Kennedy asked Congress for legislation and financing on a broad scale.

He bid for a "Youth Conservation Corps" to work in parks and forests. He urged creation of a sort of home town youth corps. He called again for a domestic peace corps—it would be named the National Service Corps. He asked that the existing Peace Corps overseas be expanded by nearly one-half.

And the President emphasized need for action on juvenile delinquency, family welfare, education and health and physical fitness.

The total price tag for all the projects is obscure, even though Kennedy has recommended all of them before in general if not specific terms.

Kennedy buttressed the plea for action with figures and arguments he has used many times. He spoke of the mounting birth rate, the over-crowding of schools, the growing proportion of unemployment among young people, the increase in juvenile arrests and delinquency.

As outlined in the message and by officials who would have some of the responsibility for them, the various corps would shape up this way:

Jetliner Fall Is Blamed on Thunderstorm

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Blustery Florida weather got the tentative blame today for a Northwest Orient Airline jetliner's plunge into the Everglades with loss of 43 lives.

A federal investigator who would not be quoted by name said the plane appeared "broke apart in a thunderstorm. It just wrenched apart."

Rain and gusty winds ruffled Florida Tuesday, the day of the crash, unroofing some dwellings and prompting tornado warnings in north and central portions of the state.

The Civil Aeronautics Board sent investigators to the marshy scene of the four-engine Boeing 720B's tragic plunge, nine miles from the nearest road, but said its findings would not be made public for several days.

The CAB and other investigative agencies apparently were not prepared to say the airplane blew apart in flight. But officers who explored the crash scene said bodies and other substantial debris of the crash were scattered within a radius of more than 200 yards of the shattered aircraft, and made dents of one foot or more in the spongy, yielding ground surface of the swampy region. This indicated some of the occupants and baggage of the plane reached the earth in a "free fall" outside the stricken airliner's fuselage.

2 Suspects Picked Up In Columbus Burglary

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Burglars stole an estimated $10,000 worth of clothing from the James V. Walker Suburban - East store here early today. An hour after the burglary, police picked up two suspects for questioning.

Police, alerted by an automatic alarm system, arrived at the store to find the burglars gone but about 100 men's suits and a variety of other clothing missing.

Syncom . . .

ellite's speed had slowed to less than 3,500 miles an hour. The burst of power from its motor was aimed at increasing this to about 6,870 miles, equaling the speed of the earth's rotation.

To make most effective use of ground communications stations, scientists want the satellite to hang like a star over the equator between South America and Africa.

Hydrogen peroxide gas just like those U.S. astronauts use to control the attitude of their spacecraft in orbit, were to be fired by ground command to help the satellite drift westward to the desired spot, a maneuver intended to take about two weeks. Once Syncom gets there, the gas jets would keep it there.

Limited communications experiments were scheduled to start about five days after launching. The satellite antenna was not to be properly oriented for continuous testing until the satellite was over the South Atlantic Ocean.

Principal sound stations are at Lakehurst, N.J., and on a ship anchored in Lagos Harbor, Nigeria, on the West African coast.

Because of its relatively small size Syncom is not equipped for television transmissions as were the Telstar and Relay communications satellites launched last year. Syncom, an 86-pound package built by Hughes Aircraft Co., is geared for telephone, teletype, and radio transmissions, which project officials hope will prove the feasibility of using high altitude synchronous satellites not only for communications, but for weather forecasting and other duties.

Because a satellite at the 22,300-mile altitude would be in range of more than one-third of the earth's surface a system of three syncoms at equally spaced points around the equator would provide continuous worldwide communications coverage.

A major problem to be probed by Syncom was what happens when signals are sent out to such a great distance and returned. The six-tenths of a second required for the transfer of words might prove inconvenient for telephone conversation.

The 22,300-mile altitude is the point in space in which a satellite will travel at the same speed as the earth rotates on its axis, about 6,860 miles an hour. Thus, both earth and satellite swing around once each day, or every 23 hours, 56 minutes and 4 seconds.

Yearly Driver License Law Is Proposed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Annual renewal of driver licenses, now good for three years, was proposed today in two measures offered before the legislature took week end adjournment.

One bill by Reps. Joseph H. Horvath and Anthony F. Novak, Cuyahoga County Democrats, would set the annual license fee at 50 cents. The other, by Reps. Walter White R-Allen, and Dale Hildebrand, R - Morrow, would retain the 75-cent fee on an annual basis.

The present fee is 75 cents for three-year licenses.

An unemployment compensation bill backed by the AFL-CIO would eliminate the $3,000 wage base for employer contributions and substitute a sliding scale of payments to approximate $297 million a year. Sponsors claim the measure would restore the compensation fund, out of which jobless benefits are paid, to about $455 million within five years.

The fund balance now approximated $124 million.

Another proposal would allow county political committees to fill vacancies in county offices in event an elected official dies or resigns before taking office.

Missing Food Puzzle Solved

MONTEREY PARK, Calif. (AP)

—Lydia Nicholas was beginning to believe one could live only as cheaply as two.

Her grocery bill was almost as high as it had been before she and her husband separated last December. And food was missing from her refrigerator.

Mrs. Nicholas, 34, told police she thinks she found the answer Tuesday night.

Her husband, Dale, 32, appeared out of nowhere, started a fight, tied her up and gagged her, she said. As he left, he told her he'd call police to untie her.

A little later police arrived. In the attic they found loaves of bread, cans of food and other evidence Nicholas had been living there.

"I never suspected it," Mrs. Nicholas said. "He was quiet as a mouse."

Mrs. Nicholas swore out a battery complaint. Police are looking for Nicholas.

Two-Car Accident Is Investigated

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department reported one accident, apparently caused by slippery roads, early today.

An auto driven by the Rev. Lewis S. Metzler, 62, Route 3, collided with a vehicle driven by Judith A. Dennis at the intersection of Walnut Creek Pike and Dunkel Road.

Drivers of both vehicles were referred to Berger Hospital by Deputy George Linder. No charges were filed.

Mail Box Opened

Mrs. Melvin Thompson, 127½ N. Court St., yesterday told city police a mail box was illegally opened at the building where she lives.

She said the box is a three-unit built in type that locks. She was advised to file a complaint with the Post Office Department.

FHA, VA Loan Interest Lid Urged Lifted

WASHINGTON (AP)—A presidential committee headed by Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon recommended today scrapping legally fixed maximum interest rates on government-backed home loans.

In a 64-page report to President Kennedy, the group urged that the Federal Housing Administration and the Veterans Administration be given reasonably broad authority to set and adjust maximum rates on FHA and VA mortgages.

At present, the maximum rate on FHA mortgages, including an insurance premium, is 5 per cent. The rate on the VA GI mortgages is 5½ per cent.

The recommendation, if approved by the administration and Congress, presumably would be the most far-reaching of all proposals made by the Dillon Committee. The impact would be great inasmuch as FHA and VA programs account for nearly 90 per cent of all loans guaranteed or insured under various federal programs.

Any change in maximum interest charges would not be retroactive. Only future mortgage loans would be affected.

Kennedy appointed the four-man committee last March, ordering a thorough search for guidelines and priorities to be applied to almost all federal lending programs.

In arguing for the elimination of fixed interest rates on FHA and VA loans, the committee said more flexible arrangements would make rates more responsive to changing credit conditions.

Serving with Dillon on the committee were Chairman Walter W. Heller of the Council of Economic Advisers, Chairman William McCleskey Martin of the Federal Reserve Board, and David E. Bell, former budget director and now foreign aid administrator.

Lion Attacks

Woman Trainer

CLEVELAND (AP)—Miss Evelyn Currie, a wild animal trainer with the Al Sirat Grotto Circus opening here today, suffered a cut on her right arm that required 14 stitches when she was attacked by a lion Wednesday night.

Miss Currie said she stepped between a lion and a lioness as she was finishing a rehearsal with her feline charges and the lion bit her.

She said it was the first time she had worked with the animals without her lead lion, which died shortly after she arrived here this week. She said the lead lion had prevented other lions from attacking her on previous occasions.

She said the wound would not prevent her from performing her act during the 10-day run of the circus.

Thug Gets $16,000 From Sidney Bank

SIDNEY, Ohio (AP) — Shelby County authorities and the Highway Patrol continued searching today for a man who robbed the Michigan Street branch of the First National Exchange Bank here and escaped with about $16,000 in cash.

Police said the gunman entered the bank late Wednesday, ordered employees to lie on the floor and then took the money from the cashier tills.

Shortly afterward, police found a stolen car the gunman abandoned after his escape.

The same bank was robbed by a gunman last November and $7,000 was obtained in that holdup.

Court Verdict Is in Keeping With This Day

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Cupid must have sighed if on this St. Valentine's day he happened to look on the records of the 10th District Court of Appeals.

There, in effect, was a decision telling the girls that if the boy friends give them an engagement ring, they had better marry the guy or the sparkler won't be a permanent fixture on their fingers.

The court ruled that Mrs. Arlene Fisher has to give her former fiancé $309.

The beau, Air Force Lt. R. C. McDermitt, had given his fiancée an engagement ring and $150 with which to buy a dinette set. But she broke the engagement, did not return the ring, took the dinette set back to the store and got the money back.

McDermitt went to Municipal Court to get both the money and the ring, but was told the ring had been lost. But the court awarded him the money, and Mrs. Fisher went to the appeals court.

Judges John C. Duffy and John J. Duffey explained that "basic law says the engagement gifts are given as a condition of marriage." If there is no marriage, the judges said, then the woman must return all gifts, money or merchandise she received from her fiancé.

Steels Pace Stock Gains

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels resumed leadership and paced the stock market to a further gain earlier this afternoon. Trading was heavy.

The advance was irregular, marred by profit-taking on some recent big gainers.

Gains of key stocks went from fractions to about a point.

Chrysler was a notable casualty, falling about 2 points as profits were taken on its latest burst of strength.

Steels rose on news that U.S. Steel probably will reopen its suburban Pittsburgh works because of rising orders. Steel makers have been reporting an order increase.

Aside from Chrysler, motors were slightly higher. The trend was to the upside among chemicals, rails, oils and aerospace issues.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .6 at 259.5 with industrials up 1.6, rails up .6, and utilities off .5.

Reformatory Sentence Is Given by Judge

Common Pleas Judge William Ammer has sentenced a local man to the Mansfield State Reformatory on charges of breaking and entering and grand larceny.

Frank D. Vandagriff, appearing on a bill of information, received a sentence of 1-15 years on three counts of breaking and entering and a sentence of 1-7 years on three counts of grand larceny.

Vandagriff also was tried for violation of his probation, after being found guilty of burglaries at Risch's Drug Store and the Circleville Iron and Metal Works in 1961. The probationary sentences received then were revoked. Judge Ammer pointed out that the sentences are to be served concurrently.

Lloyd Nungester, also appearing on a bill of information by Prosecuting Attorney Robert Huffer, was handed a three-year probationary sentence for a recent forced entry at Lindsey's Bake Shop.

parks, trails, lakes and roads in the depression of the 1930s.

It would start with 15,000 boys and be allowed a maximum of 60,000 at any one time. They could enroll for six months originally and serve a total of two years by re-enlisting. Basic pay would be $60 a month, plus travel and living expenses.

Home town youth corps — Both boys and girls could enroll for work in hospitals, schools, parks and settlement houses. The corps could hire up to 40,000 youngsters the first year and go up to a maximum of 50,000 later. The pay scale has not been determined.

The conservation and home town corps would take in semi-skilled or unskilled young people 16 to 21 years old in an effort to boost the economy, cut unemployment and train young people who otherwise would be idle. Kennedy has included $100 million for the programs in his new budget. State and local governments would have to supply an additional $60 million.

National Service Corps — This would be open to both young and older persons on a volunteer basis. It is intended to attract persons with skills that could be put to use at once, under professional guidance, to provide needed service in hospitals, on Indian reservations, to families of migrant workers, and in social and educational institutions in slum or impoverished rural areas.

The corps probably would start with 100 or 200 volunteers, reach a maximum of 5,000, pay $6 to $8 a day, and perhaps offer a bonus at the end of a year's service.

Overseas Peace Corps — Kennedy wants to raise the present limit of 9,000 volunteers to 13,000. He has included in his budget an increase of nearly $50 million for an enlarged Peace Corps, which would almost double the present total.

The President asked that the present three-year federal-state program to combat juvenile delinquency be extended three more years.

Missing Food Puzzle Solved

MONTEREY PARK, Calif. (AP)—Lydia Nicholas was beginning to believe one could live only as cheaply as two.

Her grocery bill was almost as high as it had been before she and her husband separated last December. And food was missing from her refrigerator.

Mrs. Nicholas, 34, told police she thinks she found the answer Tuesday night.

Her husband, Dale, 32, appeared out of nowhere, started a fight, tied her up and gagged her, she said.

As he left, he told her he'd call police to untie her.

A little later police arrived. In the attic they found loaves of bread, cans of food and other evidence Nicholas had been living there.

"I never suspected it," Mrs. Nicholas said. "He was quiet as a mouse."

Mrs. Nicholas swore out a battery complaint. Police are looking for Nicholas.

Two-Car Accident Is Investigated

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department reported one accident, apparently caused by slippery roads, early today.

An auto driven by the Rev. Lewis S. Metzler, 62, Route 3, collided with a vehicle driven by Judith A. Dennis at the intersection of Walnut Creek Pike and Dunkel Road.

Drivers of both vehicles were referred to Berger Hospital by Deputy George Linder. No charges were filed.

Mail Box Opened

Mrs. Melvin Thompson, 127 1/2 N. Court St., yesterday told city police a mail box was illegally opened at the building where she lives.

She said the box is a three-unit built in type that locks. She was advised to file a complaint with the Post Office Department.

FHA, VA Loan Interest Lid Urged Lifted

WASHINGTON (AP)—A presidential committee headed by Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon recommended today scrapping legally fixed maximum interest rates on government-backed home loans.

In a 64-page report to President Kennedy, the group urged that the Federal Housing Administration and the Veterans Administration be given reasonably broad authority to set and adjust maximum rates on FHA and VA mortgages.

At present, the maximum rate on FHA mortgages, including an insurance premium, is 5 percent. The rate on the VA GI mortgages is 5 1/4 percent.

The recommendation, if approved by the administration and Congress, presumably would be the most far-reaching of all proposals made by the Dillon Committee. The impact would be great inasmuch as FHA and VA programs account for nearly 90 percent of all loans guaranteed or insured under various federal programs.

Any change in maximum interest charges would not be retroactive. Only future mortgage loans would be affected.

Kennedy appointed the four-man committee last March, ordering a thorough search for guidelines and priorities to be applied to almost all federal lending programs.

In arguing for the elimination of fixed interest rates on FHA and VA loans, the committee said more flexible arrangements would make rates more responsive to changing credit conditions.

Serving with Dillon on the committee were Chairman Walter W. Heller of the Council of Economic Advisers, Chairman William McCleskey Martin of the Federal Reserve Board, and David E. Bell, former budget director and now foreign aid administrator.

Lion Attacks Woman Trainer

CLEVELAND (AP)—Miss Evelyn Currie, a wild animal trainer with the Al Sirat Grotto Circus opening here today, suffered a cut on her right arm that required 14 stitches when she was attacked by a lion Wednesday night.

Miss Currie said she stepped between a lion and a lioness as she was finishing a rehearsal with her feline charges and the lion bit her.

She said it was the first time she had worked with the animals without her lead lion, which died shortly after she arrived here this week. She said the lead lion had prevented other lions from attacking her on previous occasions.

She said the wound would not prevent her from performing her act during the 10-day run of the circus.

Thug Gets $16,000 From Sidney Bank

SIDNEY, Ohio (AP)—Shelby County authorities and the Highway Patrol continued searching today for a man who robbed the Michigan Street branch of the First National Exchange Bank here and escaped with about $16,000 in cash.

Police said the gunman entered the bank late Wednesday, ordered employees to lie on the floor and then took the money from the cashier tills.

Shortly afterward, police found a stolen car the gunman abandoned after his escape.

The same bank was robbed by a gunman last November and $7,000 was obtained in that holdup.

Court Verdict Is in Keeping With This Day

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Cupid must have sighed if on this St. Valentine's day he happened to look on the records of the 10th District Court of Appeals.

There, in effect, was a decision telling the girls that if the boy friends give them an engagement ring, they had better marry the guy or the sparkler won't be a permanent fixture on their fingers.

The court ruled that Mrs. Arlene Fisher has to give her former fiancé $309.

The beau, Air Force Lt. R. C. McDermitt, had given his fiancée an engagement ring and $150 with which to buy a dinette set. But she broke the engagement, did not return the ring, took the dinette set back to the store and got the money back.

McDermitt went to Municipal Court to get both the money and the ring, but was told the ring had been lost. But the court awarded him the money, and Mrs. Fisher went to the appeals court.

Judges John C. Duffy and John J. Duffey explained that "basic law says the engagement gifts are given as a condition of marriage." If there is no marriage, the judges said, then the woman must return all gifts, money or merchandise she received from her fiancé.

Steels Pace Stock Gains

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels resumed leadership and paced the stock market to a further gain earlier this afternoon. Trading was heavy.

The advance was irregular, marred by profit-taking on some recent big gainers.

Gains of key stocks went from fractions to about a point. Chrysler was a notable casualty, falling about 2 points as profits were taken on its latest burst of strength.

Steels rose on news that U.S. Steel probably will reopen its suburban Pittsburgh works because of rising orders. Steel makers have been reporting an order increase.

Aside from Chrysler, motors were slightly higher. The trend was to the upside among chemicals, rails, oils and aerospace issues.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .6 at 259.5 with industrials up 1.6, rails up .6, and utilities off .5.

Reformatory Sentence Is Given by Judge

Common Pleas Judge William Ammer has sentenced a local man to the Mansfield State Reformatory on charges of breaking and entering and grand larceny.

Frank D. Vandagriff, appearing on a bill of information, received a sentence of 1-15 years on three counts of breaking and entering and a sentence of 1-7 years on three counts of grand larceny.

Vandagriff also was tried for violation of his probation, after being found guilty of burglaries at Risch's Drug Store and the Circleville Iron and Metal Works in 1961. The probationary sentences received then were revoked. Judge Ammer pointed out that the sentences are to be served concurrently.

Lloyd Nungester, also appearing on a bill of information by Prosecuting Attorney Robert Huffer, was handed a three-year probationary sentence for a recent forced entry at Lindsey's Bake Shop.

parks, trails, lakes and roads in the depression of the 1930s. It would start with 15,000 boys and be allowed a maximum of 60,000 at any one time. They could enroll for six months originally and serve a total of two years by re-enlisting. Basic pay would be $60 a month, plus travel and living expenses.

Home town youth corps — Both boys and girls could enroll for work in hospitals, schools, parks and settlement houses. The corps could hire up to 40,000 youngsters the first year and go up to a maximum of 50,000 later. The pay scale has not been determined.

The conservation and home town corps would take in semi-skilled or unskilled young people 16 to 21 years old in an effort to boost the economy, cut unemployment and train young people who otherwise would be idle. Kennedy has included $100 million for the programs in his new budget. State and local governments would have to supply an additional $60 million.

National Service Corps — This would be open to both young and older persons on a volunteer basis. It is intended to attract persons with skills that could be put to use at once, under professional guidance, to provide needed service in hospitals, on Indian reservations, to families of migrant workers, and in social and educational institutions in slum or impoverished rural areas.

The corps probably would start with 100 or 200 volunteers, reach a maximum of 5,000, pay $8 to $8 a day, and perhaps offer a bonus at the end of a year's service.

Overseas Peace Corps — Kennedy wants to raise the present limit of 9,000 volunteers to 13,000. He has included in his budget an increase of nearly $50 million for an enlarged Peace Corps, which would almost double the present total.

The President asked that the present three-year federal-state program to combat juvenile delinquency be extended three more years.

Other Nations See Road Toll Up, Too

EDITOR'S NOTE — A record 41,000 persons were killed by traffic accidents in the United States last year. Elsewhere the toll rose in some nations, fell in others. Reasons were sought by AP bureaus abroad. This dispatch presents the highlights of their findings.

He said he killed her because she found excuses to keep him at home.

School Board Looks Ahead to Year 2038

NEW CASTLE, Ky. (AP)—Henry County school officials believe in planning ahead so they built a 5,600-seat gymnasium for the county high school. That's big enough to hold half the county population and provide more than nine seats per pupil.
Some area residents are unhappy about the mammoth gym but, said county school Supt. John W. Long, "I'd say 95 per cent of the people are tickled to death."
Long said the school board decided on the large size in order to be prepared for future enrollment growth and added "This building will serve the county for the next 75 years."

The top news story of 1888 was the blizzard from March 11 to 14, which immobilized New York and took 400 lives.

Americans concerned about deaths on U.S. streets and highways—a record 41,000 in 1962—can take note. They have company in other nations less richly endowed with motor vehicles.

The U.S. mark, announced by the National Safety Council in Chicago, was set in a year that saw 79 million American vehicles traveling a total of 767 billion miles. That would equal 1.65 million round trips to the moon.

No other nation came close in either number of vehicles or mileage. But the fatality rate on a per capita basis was in some cases startlingly similar.

West Germany's record is worse than that of America, although German fatalities decreased slightly.

On the streets and autobahns of the Bonn republic last year 14,000 persons were killed. That toll, in a nation of 56 million, would be about 46,000 if projected among the 187 million people of the United States.

France ran close. A nation of 46.2 million, its toll was 10,112. The Canadians' auto driving habits and traffic regulations most closely resemble those of the United States. With almost one-tenth as many people, Canada's safety record was better. The dead totaled 3,440.

Efforts to stem the tide take three broad forms:
Safety campaigns. Rome plans a four-month drive through newspapers, billboards, radio and television to promote a higher regard for pedestrians, speed limits and right of way at intersections.

A crackdown on the tipsy. A new law empowers Swiss courts to jail any drunken driver for six months and lift his license for a year.

Built-in precautions. Effective next Jan. 1 French car makers will be required by law to install seat belt fittings, though not the belts, on all models.

Reception of the idea of seat belts, which the National Safety Council estimates could save 5,000 American lives a year, is about as spotty abroad as in the United States.

In France, safety campaigns as Americans know them are rare, but city police crack down after particularly bad accidents. In Italy, safety education has been handled largely through state-approved driving schools.

Norway has a special problem because practically nobody was permitted to drive a car during the German occupation in World War II and driver education was limited by car rationing that persisted until 1959.

Publicity campaigns and increasing skill of the people behind the wheels helped to reduce the Norwegian toll somewhat last year, even though the number of cars increased by 20 per cent.

You'll never know how the Russians made out. Like so many other things in the Soviet Union, traffic statistics are a state secret.

Rhodes Liquor Shakeup Rapped

Smaller State Board Is Hit by Industry

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Liquor industry representatives appear anything but happy with a Rhodes administration bill to reorganize the four-member State Liquor Control Board into a three-member all-attorney commission.

There seemed to be two focal points of complaint as the bill got its second hearing, the final one prior to a general overhaul, before the Senate Liquor Committee:

—The chairman should not have sole control over the penalties assessed against tavern operators who violate the rules.

—There should be no possibility of modifying a penalty once it is imposed. The proposal allows for such modifications.

Columbus attorney Isadore Topper, speaking in behalf of some 1,600 retail liquor dealers, told the committee with respect to one-man determination of penalties by a commission chairman: "No single person should be given all this power."

Topper told the committee he believes it has not received enough evidence to warrant a change in the present setup.

Topper followed to the stand John P. Case, who left a 10-year tenure as Fayette County Common Pleas Court judge last month. Case described the present Liquor Board setup as "a creature which cannot reach a decision—a farce." Case referred to a number of hung decisions in the board recently.

Case earlier this week was appointed administrative assistant to Liquor Director Donald Cook.

Supporting Topper's view that the bill needs a number of changes were Robert N. Krier, representing the Ohio Brewers Association; David Julien, representing the Wholesale Beer Dealers Association; and Charles T. Kaps, Columbus attorney.

Extradition Of Cincy Man Under Study

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes' office has taken under study the extradition case of a 55-year-old Cincinnati whose failure to file a city income tax return recently led to discovery he escaped from an Alabama prison in 1931.

Up for possible return to the South is Roosevelt McReynolds, a plumber's helper. John McElroy, administrative assistant to the governor, is handling the case and expects to make a recommendation within a few days.

At a hearing this week, McReynolds told McElroy his troubles began one evening about 33 years ago when he wandered into a cafe after a day's hunting. McReynolds' story is that he was carrying a shotgun when a fight broke out. He said he "got as far back into the corner as I could get" but someone nudged him and the gun fired.

A pellet grazed the leg of a woman in the cafe. McReynolds was convicted of attempted murder and sentenced to 5-10 years in prison.

English Teachers Warned About Marking Every Error

PITTSBURGH (AP)—High school English teachers who painstakingly mark every mistake on a theme are doing their students more harm than good, an expert said Wednesday.

Paul B. Diederich, director of research in English for the Educational Testing Service, said the most common effect of such correcting is that "most students learn to hate and fear writing."

"So far as they can see," he added in an address prepared for a national convention of high school principals, "they have never done anything on paper that anybody thought was any good."

The students' greatest need, he said, is help and encouragement to do better.

Diederich is in charge of a program to encourage use of qualified housewives as theme readers, working under close supervision.

The practice is now firmly established in almost every state, he said. Most of the housewives, who majored in English in college, earn about $80 a month for an average of two hours work per school day at home.

Diederich said he tells these housewife-readers: "Your first task is to find at least one thing, and preferably two or three things, that the student has done well, or better than before."

"Then, if you must, find one thing, and preferably not more than one thing, that he should try to improve in his next paper."

Diederich said the need to use

housewives as theme readers is a simple case of arithmetic—while the number of high school students has been zooming, the percentage of teachers graduating with a major in English has been steadily declining.

Today is Thursday, Feb. 14, the 45th day of 1963. There are 320 days left in the year. Today is St. Valentine's Day.

Today's highlight in history: On this day in 1778, the flag of the United States was first saluted by a foreign nation when Capt. John Paul Jones sailed the Ranger into Jibou Bay, France.

On this day: In 1764, the original builders of St. Louis, Mo., known as "The First Thirty," arrived at the foot of what is now Walnut Street.

In 1859, Oregon was admitted to the Union as the 33rd state.

In 1913, President William Howard Taft vetoed the immigration bill because he thought the requirement for a literacy test was objectionable.

In 1936, police at Caracas, Venezuela, killed five persons in riots touched off by a decree establishing a press censorship.

In 1946, W. Averell Harriman resigned as U. S. ambassador to the Soviet Union.

—The chairman should not have sole control over the penalties assessed against tavern operators who violate the rules.

—There should be no possibility of modifying a penalty once it is imposed. The proposal allows for such modifications.

Columbus attorney Isadore Topper, speaking in behalf of some 1,600 retail liquor dealers, told the committee with respect to one-man determination of penalties by a commission chairman: "No single person should be given all this power."

Topper told the committee he believes it has not received enough evidence to warrant a change in the present setup.

Topper followed to the stand John P. Case, who left a 10-year tenure as Fayette County Common Pleas Court judge last month. Case described the present Liquor Board setup as "a creature which cannot reach a decision—a farce." Case referred to a number of hung decisions in the board recently.

Case earlier this week was appointed administrative assistant to Liquor Director Donald Cook. Supporting Topper's view that the bill needs a number of changes were Robert N. Krier, representing the Ohio Brewers Association; David Julien, representing the Wholesale Beer Dealers Association; and Charles T. Kaps, Columbus attorney.

Extradition Of Cincy Man Under Study

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes' office has taken under study the extradition case of a 55-year-old Cincinnati whose failure to file a city income tax return recently led to discovery he escaped from an Alabama prison in 1931.

Up for possible return to the South is Roosevelt McReynolds, a plumber's helper. John McElroy, administrative assistant to the governor, is handling the case and expects to make a recommendation within a few days.

At a hearing this week, McReynolds told McElroy his troubles began one evening about 33 years ago when he wandered into a cafe after a day's hunting. McReynolds' story is that he was carrying a shotgun when a fight broke out. He said he "got as far back into the corner as I could get" but someone nudged him and the gun fired.

A pellet grazed the leg of a woman in the cafe. McReynolds was convicted of attempted murder and sentenced to 5-10 years in prison.

One day while McReynolds was on a road work detail, he relates, he and some fellow prisoners took a break to pick berries. He says he and four others kept picking berries right over a hill to freedom.

English Teachers Warned About Marking Every Error

PITTSBURGH (AP) — High school English teachers who painstakingly mark every mistake on a theme are doing their students more harm than good, an expert said Wednesday.

Paul B. Diederich, director of research in English for the Educational Testing Service, said the most common effect of such correcting is that "most students learn to hate and fear writing."

"So far as they can see," he added in an address prepared for a national convention of high school principals, "they have never done anything on paper that anybody thought was any good."

The students' greatest need, he said, is help and encouragement to do better.

Diederich is in charge of a program to encourage use of qualified housewives as theme readers, working under close supervision.

The practice is now firmly established in almost every state, he said. Most of the housewives, who majored in English in college, earn about $80 a month for an average of two hours work per school day at home.

Diederich said he tells these housewife-readers: "Your first task is to find at least one thing, and preferably two or three things, that the student has done well, or better than before."

"Then, if you must, find one thing, and preferably not more than one thing, that he should try to improve in his next paper."

Diederich said the need to use

housewives as theme readers is a simple case of arithmetic—while the number of high school students has been zooming, the percentage of teachers graduating with a major in English has been steadily declining.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Thursday, Feb. 14, the 45th day of 1963. There are 320 days left in the year. Today is St. Valentine's Day.

Today's highlight in history: On this day in 1778, the flag of the United States was first saluted by a foreign nation when Capt. John Paul Jones sailed the Ranger into Jubberson Bay, France.

On this day: In 1764, the original builders of St. Louis, Mo., known as "The First Thirty," arrived at the foot of what is now Walnut Street.

In 1859, Oregon was admitted to the Union as the 33rd state.

In 1913, President William Howard Taft vetoed the immigration bill because he thought the requirement for a literacy test was objectionable.

In 1936, police at Caracas, Venezuela, killed five persons in riots touched off by a decree establishing a press censorship.

In 1946, W. Averell Harriman resigned as U. S. ambassador to the Soviet Union.

Today's birthday: Comedian Jack Benny is 69.

Thought for today: We may give advice, but we can never prompt behavior — Rochefoucauld.

Timely Words of Advice

William McChesney Martin, Chairman of the Federal Reserve System, has some timely words of advice for economic savants who regard the economy of a complex society such as the United States as some sort of a patch work quilt which can be repaired or improved piece by piece.

It is convenient to shove aside the serious international payments deficit this country has endured for several years—and which is still depleting gold reserves which have shrunk to a 25-year low—in favor of an all-out attack on domestic economic problems.

What is overlooked in the shifting of the spotlight from external to internal problems is that there is a direct connection between the two which will not disappear merely because no one is looking.

There are three primary reasons for the nation's international deficit: excessive government spending overseas (the private trade portion of our balance is several billions of dollars in our favor), low interest rates which have caused an exodus of investment capital from the United States, and the continued threat of a deflated dollar as a result of inflationary deficit spending.

"Easy" or cheap money policies serve to discourage foreign investors, encourage domestic investors in seeking a better return on their money in more stable markets (such as the 7 per cent interest rate currently available in prosperous West Germany) and encourage foreign dollar holders to exchange them for other currencies and, eventually, American gold.

But cheap money policies have been proposed in abundance by the administration as a corollary to tax cut in aiding the domestic economy. For the next two years at least, deficit spending at record levels is proposed, with no guarantee that the imbalance will not continue indefinitely.

There is valid reason to doubt that extensive pump-priming in the form of increased debt will accomplish anything worthwhile in the domestic economy. This technique was used extensively in the 1930 without startling success. But there is not even a modicum of doubt that such policies have contributed heavily to the dangerous international financial situation in which the nation finds itself today.

As Mr. Martin warns, "our domestic and international objectives are inextricably interrelated." This fact cannot be escaped by ignoring one-half of the equation until another gold crisis shows the patchwork quilt to be full of moth holes.

Valentine's — a Woman's Racket

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—"Valentine Day is a woman's racket."

Shortly after my marriage 25 years ago I made this unfortunate remark to my wife, and I have been hearing about it intermittently ever since.

But I still stick to my guns.

I'm allergic to valentines, just as other people are allergic to poison ivy, cats or feather pillows. I suspect a lot of American men are allergic to valentines, but are too cowardly to put their thoughts into words.

Traditionally, Valentine Day is supposed to be a time when lovers exchange sweet endearments and small tokens of affection.

Actually, it has become for the gals a kind of popularity contest and a second Christmas. A fellow is expected to go into hock up to his elbows to buy his girl friend an expensive gift to show how much he truly loves her.

But it is usually a one-way street. You fork out $30 or so to buy a gal a mink-lined compact, or a portable radio, and what do you get in return? A pat on the back, a 10-cent greeting card showing a heart pierced by an arrow, and an absent-minded kiss—which probably causes you to come down with influenza.

I have pleasant memories of National Pickled Beets Day. I have had memorable experiences during National Doughnut Week and National Make Better Sandwiches Month. But for the life of me, I can't ever recall getting anything out of Valentine Day except an empty feeling.

My dislike stems from boyhood. My fate then was always to be the smallest boy in my class, and my doom was to fall in love with the tallest girl in the class, usually the captain of the feminine basketball team.

What I lacked in stature, I tried to make up for by an expansive pocketbook. I sold newspapers on street corners and always had ready cash, and I was probably the last of the big money spenders in our grammar school.

Each Valentine Day, I tried to overawe my current crush by buying her the largest box of candy I could find. What happened?

She'd put the box on my head, bend down, open it—and pass out pieces of candy to the other fellows, the taller boys.

But my allergy to Valentine Day, springing originally from my lack of height, has deepened over the years with the realization that this anniversary is pretty much a con game for most members of the fair sex.

It has become for them just another symbolic occasion to exercise their power over the hapless male and remind him of his real role in this world—to serve womankind.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—The most disquieting thing about all the talk in Washington these days is the dire future predicted by each speaker if the other fellow's ideas prevail.

The precarious balance of the economy is stressed by both sides. And the general public can't be blamed if it gets the idea that a turn for the worse could be in the making.

It has been told over and over that the economy is stalemated, that the high rate of unemployment isn't yielding to any private or government pressures and is taking on the suspicion of permanence, that forces outside the country are ganging up to cause real trouble.

An official Washington spokesman will say this handwriting on the wall can be erased if new government fiscal policies are tried; otherwise things will get worse for sure.

His opponent will answer that the economy will turn sour much faster and much longer if these untried policies are adopted.

Most businessmen have been assuring the public that the outlook for the immediate future, at least, looks pretty good. But predictions by business executives and economists have been known in the past to be far from the mark, as have those by government experts.

And many people can be expected if they decide to accept things as they are, be thankful if they have a job, or get a raise, and to expect nothing of the unforeseeable future.

Discounting much of the talk in Washington as being political, still the persistent piling up of dire predictions can have its effect on public psychology.

In the last few months most of the chief business statistics have held level or moved up only slightly. In the past this has happened when the economy was taking a breather after a vigorous rise before climbing higher. It also has happened when a recovery drive was topping out before turning down into the next recession.

Particularly disquieting has been the failure of the rate of unemployment to move much other than seasonally. Some see a stubborn hard core taking on a permanent nature.

In Washington they debate whether federal government action can help, and if so, just which plan will do the trick. But all this emphasizes the trouble ahead which each side foresees if the other fellow's ideas prevail.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

AT A COUNTRY auction, Mrs. Peggy Weidman won a rare old hand-blown whiskey bottle with a bid of twenty-two dollars. An old farmer had watched her bidding with mounting disbelief. Now, as her bottle was delivered to her, he leaned over to take a closer look at it. "Gosh a'mighty," he gasped to his wife. "It's EMPTY!"

Court attendants in Flatbush, Brooklyn, are talking about the man who had his name changed from Kelly to Feinberg, then applied exactly one year later to have it changed from Feinberg to Garibaldi.

"Are you trying to make this court look foolish?" thundered the Judge.

"Not at all, Your Honor," said the applicant. "My neighborhood keeps changing."

A typewriter company has in its files the indignant note sent by a mountaineer after he had received his first typewritten letter: "You don't need to print no letter for me. I kin read writin'."

$12,000 NICKEL?—An unidentified man happened into a gas station in Muncie, Ind., where James Shockley (shown), 19, was "killing time," and sold a 1913 Liberty head nickel (inset) to Shockley for $20. Experts say the nickel is listed in catalogs as being worth $12,500—if it is the real thing. Only six are known to be in existence.

Memo to 'Joiners'

The problem of knowing what to join and what to refrain from joining must be bothering more than one citizen these days.

There's Captain Eddie Rickenbacker's recently formed Committee for the Preservation of the Monroe Doctrine, for example. I've had several appeals to become a member if this committee, and on a couple of occasions I've almost been ready to sign on the dotted line and contribute a check. I agree with Captain Eddie that the Russians should be driven out of Cuba and that the Castro government must go. But then I remember that there is supposed to be an Organization of American States, which, as I have been told, is the duly constituted Western Hemisphere agent for keeping European and Asiatic powers from interfering in New World internal affairs. Plainly, if there is any way of acting effectively against Castro, the OAS should be the organization to do it.

Of course, if we can't get action from the Americas as a whole, the United States should act unilaterally on its own behalf. In case the OAS just won't oust the Soviet infiltrators from Cuba, the Kennedy Administration should fall back on the old Monroe Doctrine and inform Castro that we intend to get rid of him no matter what Brazil, or Mexico, or British or Germany may have to say.

However, if we are forced to revive a unilateral doctrine promulgated back in the days of John Quincy Adams, who was President Monroe's Secretary of State, it will be a signal that our modern Latin American diplomacy has reached a stage of complete bankruptcy. Pessimistic in this matter though I tend to be, I would like to think the Kennedy government can yet manage to enlist the governments of Latin America in a joint crusade to rescue Cuba from Communism. Since I still possess a shred of hope that the OAS can be made effective, I can't join Captain Eddie Rickenbacker's Committee for the Preservation of the Monroe Doctrine—just yet. Maybe next week I'll feel differently about it.

Then there's the problem of my friend Norman Lombard's new organization, the United Senior Citizens (W.S.A.), Inc. This group was set up to enlist older people in the effort to keep the federal government from making further encroachments on spheres that should be left to individual initiative, voluntary association, or local State and municipal action. One of the more immediate objectives of United Senior Citizens is to prevent the passage of a bill that would finance medical care of the elderly by adding the costs to the already burdensome social security "wage tax."

Insomuch as I believe in the objectives of Mr. Lombard's organization, I agreed to become a member of its advisory council. But every time I look at the name of the group I am supposed to be advising, I gag.

This idea that Americans must be shuffled into age groups and labelled "senior" this or "junior" that is obnoxious. "United Senior Citizens" indeed! I remember the day when people were people, with freedoms and duties that were theirs from voting age on. When I have become an old man I want to be called an old man, not a "senior citizen." The very phrase smacks of an insufferable stuffiness. It invites patronizing on the part of the young. It also encourages the idea that when a person has reached the age of 65, it is time for him to be put on the shelf, even though he may have as long a run ahead of him as Bernadine Baruch. So please, Mr. Lombard, change the name of your organization before I take second thought and resign from its board of advisors.

It might be argued that my reaction to the tag, "senior citizen," is idiosyncratic. But it really isn't. Several years ago the phrase was sprung on that stalwart individual, William Grimes, when he was still in working harness as editor of the Wall Street Journal. Old Bill Grimes flashed a look that would have melted a brass monkey. "If anyone ever calls me a 'senior citizen,'" he said, "he better watch out. For I warn him, I'll hit him over the head with my crutch."

Bill Grimes has since retired, to live in Delray Beach, Fla., not far from Norman Lombard's home in Fort Lauderdale. Although Bill should be a logical candidate for Mr. Lombard's organization, I tremble lest they should ever meet.

As I say, this problem of what and what not to join is a puzzling one. It could even provoke a crack on the head.

Constitutional Convention Sought by State Senators

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two state senators want the Ohio Legislature to ask Congress for a constitutional convention to get a couple of matters settled.

Sen. Robert E. Zellar, R-Muskingum, wants a U.S. constitutional amendment to bar federal courts from consideration of state legislative apportionment disputes. Sen. Tennyson Guyer, R-Findlay, wants a federal constitutional amendment which would permit two-thirds of the state legislatures to propose U.S. constitutional amendments of their own. Now, amendments may be proposed only by Congress or a constitutional convention. In any event, it still would require approval of three-fourths of the 50 legislatures (38) to ratify an amendment.

The Guyer and Zellar resolutions were offered while the House was passing and sending to the Senate a bill to ban the drinking of 3.2 beer in motor vehicles. The measure, approved 118-9, is aimed at youngsters 18 and up who are permitted by law to buy the so-called non-intoxicating brew.

The House also passed and sent to the Senate a bill to exempt from state sales tax prescriptions by dentists and chiropractors. Prescriptions by physicians already are tax-free.

A third House-approved bill practically would put big-city municipal courts on a par with common pleas courts by providing that appeals from municipal courts go directly to appellate courts, bypassing the common pleas.

The Senate confirmed three appointees of Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes who were rejected two weeks ago when they were appointees of former Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle. Unanimous Republican - democratic approval went to:

James C. Donnell of Findlay as trustee of Bowling Green State University for a term ending next May 16.

Robert H. Stophor of Akron as Kent State University trustee for a term ending in 1967.

Hal G. Sours of Columbus to the Board of Registration for Professional Engineers and Surveyors for a term ending in 1964.

Other Senate confirmations went to:

Don H. Ebricht of Shaker Heights, former Republican state treasurer and one-time GOP nominee for governor, as a member of the State Banking Advisory Board for a term ending in 1966.

Cornelius Wandmacher of Cincinnati as a member of the Board of Registration for Professional Engineers and Surveyors for a term ending in 1967.

Among bills introduced were measures to:

Create a 24th congressional district made up of Butler, Clermont and Warren counties. Ohio's 24th congressman now is elected at-large.

Provide automatic re-employment of school superintendents and executive heads unless they are given, by March 1, written notice that their contracts will not be renewed. Sponsoring Sen. Oakley C. Collins, R-Lawrence, and Charles H. Jones, R-Butler, asserted the measure is backed by the Ohio Education Association and is designed only to give school executives contractual rights similar to those teachers now have.

ACCUSED COLUMNIST GOES ON LEAVE—Known to thousands of New Yorkers as "Cholly Knickerbocker," newspaper columnist Igor Cassini talks to other newsmen after taking a leave of absence from his column to answer federal charges that he failed to register as an agent for slain Dominican dictator Rafael Trujillo. Indicted with Cassini was New York attorney Paul Englander.

Guide to Better Health

By HARRY J. JOHNSON, M.D.

Long life and excess weight do not go together. Overweight is perhaps the greatest health hazard of the twentieth century.

Overweight, as a cause of death, does not show up on mortality tables. But I believe—and so do most of my medical colleagues—that it is directly and indirectly responsible for more disability and illness than any single disease. Heart disease, kidney diseases, strokes, and diabetes occur two and a half times as frequently among people twenty-five per cent over normal weight than among those of the same age with normal weight.

In more than nine out of ten cases, excess weight is caused by nothing more than eating too much. Only rarely is it the result of some organic disease.

When the damage is done there is no magical formula no "crash" diets, to undo it.

Most "crash" diets do work. That's the sad part. That is why so many persons are misguided by such diets. Sometimes a "crash" diet can affect your health far more seriously than your excess poundage can. But what most people forget is that you can lose weight at the same "crash" rate if you stop eating altogether for a few days.

There is no justification whatever for rigid dietary routines except when medically indicated, and then only under a doctor's care.

The chart shown here may be used to determine your normal weight.

For purposes of accurate checking, you should weigh yourself weekly on the same scale at about the same time of day.

man will say this handwriting on the wall can be erased if new government fiscal policies are tried; otherwise things will get worse for sure.

His opponent will answer that the economy will turn sour much faster and much longer if these untried policies are adopted.

Most businessmen have been assuring the public that the outlook for the immediate future, at least, looks pretty good. But predictions by business executives and economists have been known in the past to be far of the mark, as have those by government experts.

And many people can be excused if they decide to accept things as they are, be thankful if they have a job, or get a raise, and to expect nothing of the unforeseeable future.

Discounting much of the talk in Washington as being political, still the persistent piling up of dire predictions can have its effect on public psychology.

In the last few months most of the chief business statistics have held level or moved up only slightly. In the past this has happened when the economy was taking a breather after a vigorous rise before climbing higher. It also has happened when a recovery drive was topping out before turning down into the next recession.

Particularly disquieting has been the failure of the rate of unemployment to move much other than seasonally. Some see a stubborn hard core taking on a permanent nature.

In Washington they debate whether federal government action can help, and if so, just which plan will do the trick. But all this emphasizes the trouble ahead which each side foresees if the other fellow's ideas prevail.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

AT A COUNTRY auction, Mrs. Peggy Weidman won a rare old hand-blown whiskey bottle with a bid of twenty-two dollars. An old farmer had watched her bid dying with mounting disbelief. Now, as her bottle was delivered to her, he leaned over to take a closer look at it. "Gosh a'mighty," he gasped to his wife. "It's EMPTY!"

Court attendants in Flatbush, Brooklyn, are talking about the man who had his name changed from Kelly to Feinberg, then applied exactly one year later to have it changed from Feinberg to Garibaldi.

"Are you trying to make this court look foolish?" thundered the Judge.

"Not at all, Your Honor," said the applicant. "My neighborhood keeps changing."

$12,000 NICKEL?—An unidentified man happened into a gas station in Muncie, Ind., where James Shockley (shown), 19, was "killing time," and sold a 1913 Liberty head nickel (inset) to Shockley for $20. Experts say the nickel is listed in catalogs as being worth $12,500—if it is the real thing. Only six are known to be in existence.

Guide to Better Health

By HARRY J. JOHNSON, M.D.

Long life and excess weight do not go together. Overweight is perhaps the greatest health hazard of the twentieth century.

Overweight, as a cause of death, does not show up on mortality tables. But I believe—and so do most of my medical colleagues—that it is directly and indirectly responsible for more disability and illness than any single disease. Heart disease, kidney diseases, strokes, and diabetes occur two and a half times as frequently among people twenty-five percent over normal weight than among those of the same age with normal weight.

In more than nine out of ten cases, excess weight is caused by nothing more than eating too much. Only rarely is it the result of some organic disease.

When the damage is done there is no magical formula no "crash" diets, to undo it.

Most "crash" diets do work. That's the sad part. That is why so many persons are misguided by such diets. Sometimes a "crash" diet can affect your health far more seriously than your excess poundage can. But what most people forget is that you can lose weight at the same "crash" rate if you stop eating altogether for a few days.

There is no justification whatever for rigid dietary routines except when medically indicated, and then only under a doctor's care.

The chart shown here may be used to determine your normal weight. For purposes of accurate checking, you should weigh yourself weekly on the same scale at about the same time of day.

Memo to 'Joiners'

The problem of knowing what to join and what to refrain from joining must be bothering more than one citizen these days.

There's Captain Eddie Rickenbacker's recently formed Committee for the Preservation of the Monroe Doctrine, for example. I've had several appeals to become a member if this committee, and on a couple of occasions I've almost been ready to sign on the dotted line and contribute a check. I agree with Captain Eddie that the Russians should be driven out of Cuba and that the Castro government must go. But then I remember that there is supposed to be an Organization of American States, which, as I have been told, is the duly constituted Western Hemisphere agent for keeping European and Asiatic powers from interfering in New World internal affairs. Plainly, if there is any way of acting effectively against Castro, the OAS should be the organization to do it.

Of course, if we can't get action from the Americas as a whole, the United States should act unilaterally on its own behalf. In case the OAS just won't oust the Soviet infiltrators from Cuba, the Kennedy Administration should fall back on the old Monroe Doctrine and inform Castro that we intend to get rid of him no matter what Brazil, or Mexico, or British or Germany may have to say.

However, if we are forced to revive a unilateral doctrine promulgated back in the days of John Quincy Adams, who was President Monroe's Secretary of State, it will be a signal that our modern Latin American diplomacy has reached a stage of complete bankruptcy. Pessimism in this matter though I tend to be, I would like to think the Kennedy government can yet manage to enlist the governments of Latin America in a joint crusade to rescue Cuba from Communism. Since I still possess a shred of hope that the OAS can be made effective, I can't join Captain Eddie Rickenbacker's Committee for the Preservation of the Monroe Doctrine—just yet. Maybe next week I'll feel differently about it.

Then there's the problem of my friend Norman Lombard's new organization, the United Senior Citizens (W.S.A.), Inc. This group was set up to enlist older people in the effort to keep the federal government from making further encroachments on spheres that should be left to individual initiative, voluntary association, or local State and municipal action. One of the more immediate objectives of United Senior Citizens is to prevent the passage of a bill that would finance medical care of the elderly by adding the costs to the already burdensome social security "wage tax."

Insomuch as I believe in the objectives of Mr. Lombard's organization, I agreed to become a member of its advisory council. But every time I look at the name of the group I am supposed to be advising, I gag.

This idea that Americans must be shuffled into age groups and labelled "senior" this or "junior" that is obnoxious. "United Senior Citizens" indeed! I remember the day when people were people, with freedoms and duties that were theirs from voting age on. When I have become an old man I want to be called an old man, not a "senior citizen." The very phrase smacks of an insufferable stuffiness. It invites patronizing on the part of the young. It also encourages the idea that when a person has reached the age of 65, it is time for him to be put on the shelf, even though he may have as long a run ahead of him as Bern and Baruch. So please, Mr. Lombard, change the name of your organization before I take second thought and resign from its board of advisors.

It might be argued that my reaction to the tag, "senior citizen," is idiosyncratic. But it really isn't. Several years ago the phrase was sprung on that stalwart individualist, William Grimes, when he was still in working harness as editor of the Wall Street Journal. Old Bill Grimes flashed a look that would have melted a brass monkey. "If anyone ever calls me a 'senior citizen,'" he said, "he better watch out. For I warn him, I'll hit him over the head with my crutch."

Bill Grimes has since retired, to live in Delray Beach, Fla., not far from Norman Lombard's home in Fort Lauderdale. Although Bill should be a logical candidate for Mr. Lombard's organization, I tremble lest they should ever meet.

As I say, this problem of what and what not to join is a puzzling one. It could even provoke a crack on the head.

Constitutional Convention Sought by State Senators

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two state senators want the Ohio Legislature to ask Congress for a constitutional convention to get a couple of matters settled.

Sen. Robert E. Zellar, R-Muskingum, wants a U.S. constitutional amendment to bar federal courts from consideration of state legislative apportionment disputes.

Sen. Tennyson Guyer, R-Findlay, wants a federal constitutional amendment which would permit two-thirds of the state legislatures to propose U.S. constitutional amendments of their own. Now, amendments may be proposed only by Congress or a constitutional convention. In any event, it still would require approval of three-fourths of the 50 legislatures (38) to ratify an amendment.

The Guyer and Zellar resolutions were offered while the House was passing and sending to the Senate a bill to ban the drinking of 3.2 beer in motor vehicles. The measure, approved 118-9, is aimed at youngsters 18 and up who are permitted by law to buy the so-called non-intoxicating brew.

The House also passed and sent to the Senate a bill to exempt from state sales tax prescriptions by dentists and chiroprapists. Prescriptions by physicians already are tax-free.

A third House-approved bill practically would put big-city municipal courts on a par with common pleas courts by providing that appeals from municipal courts go directly to appellate courts, bypassing the common pleas.

The Senate confirmed three appointees of Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes who were rejected two weeks ago when they were appointees of former Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

Unanimous Republican democratic approval went to:

James C. Donnell of Findlay as trustee of Bowling Green State University for a term ending next May 16.

Robert H. Stopher of Akron as Kent State University trustee for a term ending in 1967.

Hal G. Sours of Columbus to the Board of Registration for Professional Engineers and Surveyors for a term ending in 1964.

Other Senate confirmations went to:

Don H. Ebright of Shaker Heights, former Republican state treasurer and one-time GOP nominee for governor, as a member of the State Banking Advisory Board for a term ending in 1966. Cornelius Wandmacher of Cincinnati as a member of the Board of Registration for Professional Engineers and Surveyors for a term ending in 1967.

Among bills introduced were measures to:

Create a 24th congressional district made up of Butler, Clermont and Warren counties. Ohio's 24th congressman now is elected at-large.

Provide automatic re-employment of school superintendents and executive heads unless they are given, by March 1, written notice that their contracts will not be renewed. Sponsoring Sens. Oakley C. Collins, R-Lawrence, and Charles H. Jones, R-Butler, asserted the measure is backed by the Ohio Education Association and is designed only to give school executives contractual rights similar to those teachers now have.

ACCUSED COLUMNIST GOES ON LEAVE—Known to thousands of New Yorkers as "Cholly Knickerbocker," newspaper columnist Igor Cassin talks to other newsmen after taking a leave of absence from his column to answer federal charges that he failed to register as an agent for slain Dominican dictator Rafael Trujillo. Farm Roundup

Milk Data Said Ammunition For JFK Foes

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new government milk production report is expected to be seized upon by Kennedy administration farm program opponents as indicating need for a new daily control program is declining.

The Agriculture Department has revised its 1962 milk production estimate downward more than half a billion pounds, putting it at 125.9 billion pounds, compared with 126.5 billion pounds estimated a month earlier. This new figure placed 1962 output only four-tenths of 1 per cent above 1961.

In addition, the department estimated production in January was down slightly from the like month last year, suggesting the possibility that output might decline a little this year.

Some dairy groups contend that milk production is tending to level out and that in time demand will move up to absorb the output, thus eliminating surpluses. But department dairy officials are pessimistic about such a prospect.

The administration has proposed a program under which dairy men would be offered payments to reduce production. In addition, price supports on surplus dairy products would be reduced.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Rural Electrification Administration reports today that its rural electric borrowers—Mostly rural co-operatives and local power districts—paid the government $203 million on principal and interest on loans last year. This was 27 per cent more than was paid in 1961.

The REA has extended $4,072,663,000 in loans to such borrowers since its establishment in 1934. By the end of 1962, nearly $1.2 billion of this had been repaid, including $203 million ahead of schedule.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Farmers Home Administration announced today a slight reduction in interest rates to be paid investors on farm housing and other farm loans insured by it.

The reductions, which go into effect March 1, are designed to bring returns on such insured loans in line with returns with comparable investments.

These insured loans now earn 4½ per cent interest a year. After March 1, 4 per cent will be paid on loans made for at least a 3-year period and 4¼ per cent on loans made for at least six years.

Europe at Crossroads

NATO Now Has Everything It Needs Except France

EDITOR'S NOTE — AP correspondent William L. Ryan reports on the shape of NATO in the shadow of De Gaulle.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

LONDON (AP)—The North Atlantic Treaty Organization has everything it needs in France except the French.

"It's a little like running a boat with the anchor down," says a NATO source.

The heart and nerve center of NATO are in France and probably will remain there indefinitely. That is where headquarters is, where planning is done, where the NATO Council sits.

Right now, France's major contribution to NATO is geography. The French delegate sits in the council, but that's about all he does.

The Atlantic crisis provoked by France's blunt rejection of Britain's bid to enter the European Economic Community or Common Market turned a spotlight on NATO's problems with France. NATO sources say French attitudes hamper planning, that French failure to cooperate in defense systems and French insistence on acting exclusively of the other allies can cause more harm.

Military planning will go on, even if NATO in effect must operate virtually without France. But recent events pose new dangers for NATO.

A split among the six Common Market nations over France's veto of Britain might make the French "empty chair" a full reality, at least for a time, and that would weaken the alliance.

"I think it would be a disaster if we should divide," President Kennedy has said. "The forces in the world hostile to us are powerful."

He has responded softly to De Gaulle thunderbolts, but he has made it clear any division between the United States and Europe is a serious danger to Western security.

The possibility of a weakening is painfully present. France's veto brings grave economic problems to Britain. She may feel obliged to review her NATO commitments. Britain's three divisions—55,000 men plus support troops—in Germany cost her in the neighborhood of $200 million a year.

France herself has made no move to restore to NATO the two divisions withdrawn in pre-De Gaulle days for the Algerian crisis. She has withdrawn her dozen ships from NATO's Mediterranean force. Her contribution now amounts to two divisions in Germany, and that's it.

NATO is still nearly six divisions short of the 30 which planners hold necessary to proceed with the forward defense program for Europe.

While De Gaulle insists "the Atlantic Alliance is absolutely necessary," he provides its biggest headaches.

He rejects integration, which means blending defense forces under a single command. That suggests to De Gaulle a surrender of sovereignty. On that issue France caused the collapse of the European Defense Community in 1954.

De Gaulle has refused to permit stockpiling of atomic weapons in France. Striking-force squadrons must be located in Germany and Britain.

De Gaulle rejects Kennedy's proposal for a multinational nuclear force. He wants his own atomic striking force. His idea is getting to be known in Europe by the curious name of "the little deterrent."

Eventually, in De Gaulle's words, France's deterrent "will have the somber and terrible capability of destroying in a few seconds millions and millions of men."

De Gaulle says the Cuban crisis showed that America's nuclear weapons are ready to go into action for "something other than the defense of Europe," and nobody can say "where, when, how and to what extent the American nuclear weapons would be employed to defend Europe."

France's policy is not to turn French weapons over to a multinational force under foreign command, but "to construct and if necessary use atomic forces ourselves—without refusing cooperation, technical or strategic, if it is desired by France's allies."

By the end of this year, De Gaulle intends to have on wheels an atom bomb about three times the size of the one dropped on Hiroshima in 1945. It will be carried by Mirage IV planes, which need U.S. refueling planes.

By 1966 De Gaulle hopes to have 50 Mirage IVs. He plans a force of solid fuel missiles of 900 to 10-YEAR PROBATION — Led toward Superior Court in Boston by David McMorrow, a court officer, Suzanne Clift, 21-year-old, five-month pregnant niece of actor Montgomery Clift, pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the fatal shooting of her Italian-Swiss boy friend. She was placed on probation for 10 years with the stipulation that she commit herself to a mental health center for treatment. The victim was Piero B. Brentani, 27, who she said was the father of her unborn child.

Freeway Work Is OK

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Work on two sections of the North-South Freeway in Warren County will begin in March and May. The State Highway Department says completion date for the sections is in November 1964.

1,200-mile range, and eventually underwater missiles with three submarines.

It would do no good, NATO sources say, to deny France the U.S. KC135 refueling planes, or to make other threats against De Gaulle. Such actions would only serve to underscore De Gaulle's complaint that the United States wants to dominate Europe.

Nor can the United States threaten to withdraw its 425,000 troops from Europe. De Gaulle knows Washington would not leave Europe stripped. The very thought frightens West Germans. Even now Germans express worry about reaction in Congress to French-German reconciliation, in the light of France's attitudes toward the United States and the alliance.

So far as military men are concerned, the 14-nation alliance has been a miraculous success since its creation in 1949. They are ready to sit it out and carry on business as usual.

But France is a large chunk of Europe.

De Gaulle's impact, in the opinion of many responsible Europeans, has created a situation which arouses resentment in the United States and which could generate pressure for a review of American commitments to Europe.

Farm Roundup

Milk Data Said Ammunition For JFK Foes

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new government milk production report is expected to be seized upon by Kennedy administration farm program opponents as indicating need for a new daily control program is declining.

The Agriculture Department has revised its 1962 milk production estimate downward more than half a billion pounds, putting it at 125.9 billion pounds, compared with 126.5 billion pounds estimated a month earlier. This new figure placed 1962 output only four-tenths of 1 per cent above 1961.

In addition, the department estimated production in January was down slightly from the like month last year, suggesting the possibility that output might decline a little this year.

Some dairy groups contend that milk production is tending to level out and that in time demand will move up to absorb the output, thus eliminating surpluses. But department dairy officials are pessimistic about such a prospect.

The administration has proposed a program under which dairy-men would be offered payments to reduce production. In addition, price supports on surplus dairy products would be reduced.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Rural Electrification Administration reports today that its rural electric borrowers—Mostly rural co-operatives and local power districts—paid the government $203 million on principal and interest on loans last year. This was 27 per cent more than was paid in 1961.

The REA has extended $4,072,663,000 in loans to such borrowers since its establishment in 1934. By the end of 1962, nearly $1.2 billion of this had been repaid, including $203 million ahead of schedule.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Farmers Home Administration announced today a slight reduction in interest rates to be paid investors on farm housing and other farm loans insured by it.

The reductions, which go into effect March 1, are designed to bring returns on such insured loans in line with returns with comparable investments.

These insured loans now earn 4 1/2 per cent interest a year. After March 1, 4 per cent will be paid on loans made for at least a 3-year period and 4 1/4 per cent on loans made for at least six years.

Not a Big D

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The second grade rooms at Avon School were about to hold an election.

"Now, children," their teacher beamed, "we're going to do this in a democratic way."

Down fell the face and up shot the hand of Beasley Wellford. "Then I can't vote," he announced unhappily. "I'm a republican."

In 1961 farmers raised 108 million turkeys, compared with 66 million in 1955. Production was cut somewhat in 1962 from the 1961 figure.

Australia's largest recorded hailstone, with a 12-inch circumference, fell in Bowenville on Jan. 26, 1958.

Europe at Crossroads

NATO Now Has Everything It Needs Except France

EDITOR'S NOTE — AP correspondent William L. Ryan reports on the shape of NATO in the shadow of De Gaulle.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN AP Special Correspondent

LONDON (AP)—The North Atlantic Treaty Organization has everything it needs in France except the French.

"It's a little like running a boat with the anchor down," says a NATO source.

The heart and nerve center of NATO are in France and probably will remain there indefinitely. That is where headquarters is, where planning is done, where the NATO Council sits.

Right now, France's major contribution to NATO is geography. The French delegate sits in the council, but that's about all he does.

The Atlantic crisis provoked by France's blunt rejection of Britain's bid to enter the European Economic Community or Common Market turned a spotlight on NATO's problems with France. NATO sources say French attitudes hamper planning, that France refuses to cooperate in defense systems and French insistence on acting exclusively of the other allies can cause more harm.

Military planning will go on, even if NATO in effect must operate virtually without France. But recent events pose new dangers for NATO.

A split among the six Common Market nations over France's veto of Britain might make the French "empty chair" a full reality, at least for a time, and that would weaken the alliance.

"I think it would be a disaster if we should divide," President Kennedy has said. "The forces in the world hostile to us are powerful."

He has responded softly to De Gaulle thunderbolts, but he has made it clear any division between the United States and Europe is a serious danger to Western security.

The possibility of a weakening is painfully present. France's veto brings grave economic problems to Britain. She may feel obliged to review her NATO commitments. Britain's three divisions—55,000 men plus support troops—in Germany cost her in the neighborhood of $200 million a year.

France herself has made no move to restore to NATO the two divisions withdrawn in pre-De Gaulle days for the Algerian crisis. She has withdrawn her dozen ships from NATO's Mediterranean force. Her contribution now amounts to two divisions in Germany, and that's it.

NATO is still nearly six divisions short of the 30 which planners hold necessary to proceed with the forward defense program for Europe.

While De Gaulle insists "the Atlantic Alliance is absolutely necessary," he provides its biggest headaches.

He rejects integration, which means blending defense forces under a single command. That suggests to De Gaulle a surrender of sovereignty. On that issue France caused the collapse of the European Defense Community in 1954.

De Gaulle has refused to permit stockpiling of atomic weapons in France. Striking-force squadrons must be located in Germany and Britain.

De Gaulle rejects Kennedy's proposal for a multinational nuclear force. He wants his own atomic striking force. His idea is getting to be known in Europe by the curious name of "the little deterrent."

Eventually, in De Gaulle's words, France's deterrent "will have the somber and terrible capability of destroying in a few seconds millions and millions of men."

De Gaulle says the Cuban crisis showed that America's nuclear weapons are ready to go into action for "something other than the defense of Europe," and nobody can say "where, when, how and to what extent the American nuclear weapons would be employed to defend Europe."

France's policy is not to turn French weapons over to a multinational force under foreign command, but "to construct and if necessary use atomic forces ourselves—without refusing cooperation, technical or strategic, if it is desired by France's allies."

By the end of this year, De Gaulle intends to have on wheels an atom bomb about three times the size of the one dropped on Hiroshima in 1945. It will be carried by Mirage IV planes, which need U.S. refueling planes.

By 1966 De Gaulle hopes to have 50 Mirage IVs. He plans a force of solid fuel missiles of 900 to

1,200-mile range, and eventually underwater missiles with three submarines.

It would do no good, NATO sources say, to deny France the U.S. KC135 refueling planes, or to make other threats against De Gaulle. Such actions would only serve to underscore De Gaulle's complaint that the United States wants to dominate Europe.

Nor can the United States threaten to withdraw its 425,000 troops from Europe. De Gaulle knows Washington would not leave Europe stripped. The very thought frightens West Germans. Even now Germans express worry about reaction in Congress to French-German reconciliation, in the light of France's attitudes toward the United States and the alliance.

So far as military men are concerned, the 14-nation alliance has been a miraculous success since its creation in 1949. They are ready to sit it out and carry on business as usual.

But France is a large chunk of Europe.

De Gaulle's impact, in the opinion of many responsible Europeans, has created a situation which arouses resentment in the United States and which could generate pressure for a review of American commitments to Europe.

Official Nationwide Consumer Testing Institute Report:

PLYMOUTH WINS PERFORMANCE TEST. PLYMOUTH WINS GAS ECONOMY TEST.

It happened in the second big meeting of Ford Galaxie "500", Chevrolet Impala and Plymouth Fury at Riverside, Cal.—in a "Showdown" Plymouth asked for. The cars were all V-8s, comparably equipped. And Nationwide Consumer Testing Institute was there to conduct the competition and see to it that its strict rules were followed. When it was over, Plymouth had victories in almost every performance test, plus victory in the all-important economy run. Plymouth for '63 also has the only 5-year/50,000-mile warranty* in the tough Plymouth-Ford-Chevrolet league. See your dealer. Plymouth's on the move.

Mrs. Radcliffe Hosts Group

Circle No. 3 of First EUB Church met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Clarence Radcliffe, 308 Northridge Road, with seven members and one guest present.

Mrs. Howard Conley, assistant leader, opened with a reading from the World Evangel. Her opening thought was "Whenever and wherever we see the praying hands let us pray for the spiritual renewal of the church." This was followed by The Lord's Prayer repeated in unison.

The following committees gave reports: spiritual life, christian social relations and missionary education and local church activities. Mrs. Stella Morris reported book sales were doing nicely and urged members to bring trading stamps for the branch project. She also announced plans for a Bazaar to be held in December with each Circle taking part.

Mrs. John Kerns gave the treasurer's report including a complete report on all offerings from April 1 to Dec. 31 for 1962.

Miss Ankrom, Mr. Gausel Are United

Miss Ellen Marie Ankrom, daughter of Mrs. Lucille Notestine of De Graff and Mr. Merle Ankrom of Circleville, became the bride of Mr. Kurt Gausel, son of Mr. Mrs. John A. Gausel of Stavanger, Norway, Feb. 2, in the First Evangelical Church.

The Rev. O. F. Gibbs performed the double ring ceremony. The bride wore a street length dress of pale blue with matching accessories and her corsage was red roses.

Miss Brenda Smith of Circleville and Mr. Ken Murray of Lockbourne were attendants for the couple. Miss Smith wore a dark blue dress with matching accessories and a red rose corsage.

Mr. Gausel is in the U. S. Air Force. He is stationed at Wilmington, O.

Mrs. Burns Hosts First EUB Circle 2

Circle No. 2 of the First EUB Church met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Ralph Burns. Mrs. William Hoover was co-hostess.

Mrs. Frank Hawkes, leader, presided. Reports of standing committees were given.

It was announced that World Day of Prayer will be held Mar. 1 at St. Philip's Episcopal Church with all churches of the city participating.

All Circles will hold a combined meeting March 28 in the service center. The date has been changed because the revival will be in progress at the regularly scheduled time.

Mrs. Roy Groce was program leader and used the theme, "The Physically Ill and Handicapped, Mentally Ill and Prisoners." Mrs. Groce, Mrs. Hawkes and Mrs. Russell Jones discussed all phases of this topic. Mrs. Ralph Long gave the scripture and Mrs. Owen Fullen, Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Paul Dawson led group singing and prayers.

There were two visitors present, Mrs. Nolan Sims and Mrs. Paul Dawson.

Group Conducts Dinner, Roaring Twenties Party

A feature of the event was the unusual and clever costumes of the members and their guests.

As the evening progressed the guests were given monetary tokens and attempted their skill at simulated games of chance. Big winners for the evening were Mrs. and Mrs. Norman Henderson and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wolf.

Mrs. Joe Brooks was chairman of the event assisted by Mrs. Richard Pettit, Mrs. Ronald Spence, Mrs. Wayne Smith and Mrs. Charles Stiles.

Mrs. Don Vogel, president, expressed her appreciation to members and their husbands who contributed so much time towards the pumpkin pie booth project. In appreciation for their special efforts in building the booth, the co-chairmen, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Linton, were presented a gift from the group.

Guild 21 Meet Held Monday

Berger Hospital Guild No. 21 met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Willis Liston, Route 3.

At the conclusion of the business meeting bridge was enjoyed by the members. Prize winners were, Mrs. Dorothy Gerhardt, Mrs. Budd Harden and Mrs. Charles G. Smith.

The next meeting will be held Mar. 11 in the home of Mrs. E. K. Black, 305 E. Mound St.

Dear Abby:

by Abigail Van Buren

Put Devil Behind You!

DEAR ABBY: Sixteen years ago I married a man I did not love. I knew I didn't love him but I was lonely. Now I have met a man I love dearly. He loves me, too. It is a decent love and not a dirty one. There are children both sides. What should I do? Go on living with a man I don't love or go to the one I love with all my heart? Please help me.

SO IN LOVE
DEAR SO: How can an illicit "love" between two married parties be a "decent" love? That "love" didn't flower all by itself. It was born in impulse and cultivated by stealth. If that is "love," then love is a dirty word (which it isn't). Stay with your husband and tell your "love" to stay with his wife. No one finds real happiness stepping on the hearts of others.

DEAR ABBY: Our office is in an uproar this week. Every girl here received a post card invitation with the following message: "Bridal shower for Minnie. Please call the above number for gift suggestions." It's Minnie's number, so apparently she is giving it herself. Minnie was married once, had three children and was divorced. She married again last January. Now, five weeks later, this "bride" is giving herself a "bridal" shower. Who's crazy?

VIRGINIA
DEAR VIRGINIA: Anyone who accepts such an invitation.

DEAR ABBY: When you read this you will know why I can't sign my name or ask for a personal reply, so please give me some advice through your column. I am a trusted employee, and have handled the cash for several years. The bookkeeper showed me a foolproof way to steal small amounts of money, and we have been doing this for two years. We don't take great amounts, but it is now adding up to more than I had intended to take. I have been having nightmares about getting caught and being sent to prison. I want to quit stealing, but the bookkeeper does not want to quit and we have to work together. How can I confess and make things right without involving the bookkeeper? We are both family men. If I don't start living right I am afraid I will do something desperate. What is the answer?

IN DEEP
DEAR IN DEEP: Tell your colleague in crime you're going to confess the amount you have taken, and would like to work out restitution, with interest. If he won't do likewise, it's his neck.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "L": Drop that pill, Grandpa, and get yourself a Valentine!

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Family Attends Birthday Dinner

Mrs. Elba Blankenship, Route 2, Williamsport, was honored recently with a birthday dinner given at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Myers of Route 1, New Holland.

Guests included Mr. Elba Blankenship and their children, Goldie June and Richard, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Blankenship and children Riekey, Kristy, Tony and Gregg of Circleville; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Blankenship and children Sheila, Tina, Junior and Cindy, Delaware.

Following the dinner which included the traditional ice cream and cake, the honored guest received many gifts. All the grandchildren joined in singing "Happy Birthday."

Mrs. Radcliffe Hosts Group

Circle No. 3 of First EUB Church met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Clarence Radcliffe, 308 Northridge Road, with seven members and one guest present.

Mrs. Howard Conley, assistant leader, opened with a reading from the World Evangel. Her opening thought was "Whenever and wherever we see the praying hands let us pray for the spiritual renewal of the church." This was followed by The Lord's Prayer repeated in unison.

The following committees gave reports: spiritual life, christian social relations and missionary education and local church activities. Mrs. Stella Morris reported cook book sales were doing nicely and urged members to bring trading stamps for the branch project. She also announced plans for a Bazaar to be held in December with each Circle taking part.

Mrs. John Kerns gave the treas-

Miss Ankrom, Mr. Gausel Are United

Miss Ellen Marie Ankrom, daughter of Mrs. Lucille Notestine of De Graff and Mr. Merle Ankrom of Circleville, became the bride of Mr. Kurt Gausel, son of Mr. Mrs. John A. Gausel of Stavanger, Norway, Feb. 2, in the First Evangelical Church.

The Rev. O. F. Gibbs performed the double ring ceremony. The bride wore a street length dress of pale blue with matching accessories and her corsage was red roses.

Miss Brenda Smith of Circleville and Mr. Ken Murray of Lockbourne were attendants for the couple. Miss Smith wore a dark blue dress with matching accessories and a red rose corsage.

Mr. Gausel is in the U. S. Air Force. He is stationed at Wilmington, O.

Mrs. Burns Hosts First EUB Circle 2

Circle No. 2 of the First EUB Church met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Ralph Burns. Mrs. William Hoover was co-hostess.

Mrs. Frank Hawkes, leader, presided. Reports of standing committees were given.

It was announced that World Day of Prayer will be held Mar. 1 at St. Philip's Episcopal Church with all churches of the city participating.

All Circles will hold a combined meeting March 28 in the service center. The date has been changed because the revival will be in progress at the regularly scheduled time.

Mrs. Roy Groce was program leader and used the theme, "The Physically Ill and Handicapped, Mentally Ill and Prisoners." Mrs. Groce, Mrs. Hawkes and Mrs. Russell Jones discussed all phases of this topic. Mrs. Ralph Long gave the scripture and Mrs. Owen Fullen, Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Paul Dawson led group singing and prayers.

There were two visitors present, Mrs. Nolan Sims and Mrs. Paul Dawson.

Group Conducts Dinner, Roaring Twenties Party

A feature of the event was the unusual and clever costumes of the members and their guests.

As the evening progressed the guests were given monetary tokens and attempted their skill at simulated games of chance. Big winners for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Norman Henderson and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wolf.

Mrs. Joe Brooks was chairman of the event assisted by Mrs. Richard Pettit, Mrs. Ronald Spence, Mrs. Wayne Smith and Mrs. Charles Stiles.

Mrs. Don Vogel, president, expressed her appreciation to members and their husbands who contributed so much time towards the pumpkin pie booth project. In appreciation for their special efforts in building the booth, the co-chairmen, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Linton, were presented a gift from the group.

urer's report including a complete report on all offerings from April 1 to Dec. 31 for 1962.

The World Day of Prayer will be held Mar. 1 in the Episcopal Church, E. Mound St., with other churches in the community participating in the service, Mrs. Conley said, and she also announced that the March meeting has been changed due to the Revival which will be held Mar. 10-17 with Rev. Loran Helm from Indiana as Evangelist. Mrs. Radcliffe presided.

Mrs. Kerns was program leader and her theme was "To Know Each Other." She told of the church's mission and the handicapped and read several articles from the book, "Ministries of Mercy". Mrs. Radcliffe read Scripture from Luke 4:16-21, Mark 1:40-41, Luke 6:31-33, Colossians 3:12-12. A period of discussion followed on how to help members of the community develop a more Christian attitude and acceptance toward those who have been guilty of crime. The program closed with prayer.

A highlight of the evening was when Clarence Radcliffe showed a color film taken by Mrs. Radcliffe on her recent trip as delegate to the Quadrennial Convention held in Wichita, Kan.

The next meeting will be 7:30 p. m. Mar. 28 in the service center. This will be a combined meeting with all Circles present. The program leader for March will be Miss Lucille Kirkwood. Hostesses will be Jean Sweigart, Jessie Cummings, Mary Millions, Thelma Jones, Dorothy Stiers, Flossie Groce, Wanita Marshall and Cressie Hall.

Guild 21 Meet Held Monday

Berger Hospital Guild No. 21 met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Willis Liston, Route 3.

At the conclusion of the business meeting bridge was enjoyed by the members. Prize winners were Mrs. Dorothy Gerhardt, Mrs. Budd Harden and Mrs. Charles G. Smith.

The next meeting will be held Mar. 11 in the home of Mrs. E. K. Black, 305 E. Mound St.

MISS LINDA BENZENBERG

Miss Benzenberg To Appear in Youth Concert

Miss Linda Benzenberg, daughter of Mrs. H. C. Benzenberg, 526 Northridge Road, will portray the role of Celeste in George Kleinsinger's children's composition, "The Story of Celeste."

The Columbus Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Evan Whalton, will present this musical tale on Saturday at Veterans Memorial Auditorium. Miss Benzenberg will appear in the two performances, the first at 11 a. m. and the second at 2 p. m.

Miss Benzenberg is a student of Miss Stella Becker. Members of the Columbus Civic Ballet will also appear in the work to visually illustrate the story of the delightful tinkling bell instrument that found a home in the symphony orchestra only after many heart-breaking attempts and failures.

Choreography for the group is being prepared by Richard Kimball and Georgia Gay. Janet Greene will be narrator and sing.

Guild 12 Sates Meet

Berger Hospital Guild No. 12 will meet 8 p. m. Monday in the home of Mrs. William Defenbaugh, Route 1, Laurelvile.

Mrs. Swoyer Entertains Duvall Group

The February meeting of the Duvall Do Alls was held recently in the home of Mrs. Ray Swoyer with Mrs. Robert Johnson as co-hostess.

Miss Emma Lou Tackett was a guest speaker for the evening with the topic, "Consumer Buying", followed by an interesting discussion.

On Feb. 26 the Leadership Meeting will be held in the 4-H and Grange Building at Pickaway County Fairgrounds.

Mrs. Jesse Baum is starting a scrapbook for the club with articles and pictures taken by Mrs. Robert Johnson. Valentine favors will be sent to residents of Pickaway County Home.

Refreshments with a valentine theme were served to the following: Mrs. McKinley Ross, Mrs. Richard Roberts, Mrs. Glenn Parsons, Mrs. John Triance, Mrs. Joe Vause, Mrs. Raymond Huggins, Mrs. Nolan Smith, Mrs. George Coon, Mrs. Baum, Mrs. Frank Baum, Mrs. Ada Ison, Mrs. Robert Piester and Mrs. George Kirk, both guests.

The next meeting will be 7:30 p. m. Mar. 12 in the home of Mrs. Jesse Baum.

Dear Abby: Put Devil Behind You!

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Sixteen years ago I married a man I did not love. I knew I didn't love him but I was lonely. Now I have met a man I love dearly. He loves me, too. It is a decent love and not a dirty one. There are children both sides. What should I do? Go on living with a man I don't love or go to the one I love with all my heart? Please help me.

SO IN LOVE
DEAR SO: How can an illicit "love" between two married parties be a "decent" love? That "love" didn't flower all by itself. It was born in impulse and cultivated by stealth. If that is "love," then love is a dirty word (which it isn't)! Stay with your husband and tell your "love" to stay with his wife. No one finds real happiness stepping on the hearts of others.

DEAR ABBY: Our office is in an uproar this week. Every girl here received a post card invitation with the following message: "Bridal shower for Minnie. Please call the above number for gift suggestions." It's Minnie's number, so apparently she is giving it herself. Minnie was married once, had three children and was divorced. She married again last January. Now, five weeks later, this "bride" is giving herself a "bridal" shower. Who's crazy?

VIRGINIA
DEAR VIRGINIA: Anyone who accepts such an invitation.

DEAR ABBY: When you read this you will know why I can't sign my name or ask for a personal reply, so please give me some advice through your column. I am a trusted employee, and have handled the cash for several years. The bookkeeper showed me a foolproof way to steal small amounts of money, and we have been doing this for two years. We don't take great amounts, but it is now adding up to more than I had intended to take. I have been having nightmares about getting caught and being sent to prison. I want to quit stealing, but the bookkeeper does not want to quit and we have to work together. How can I confess and make things right without involving the bookkeeper? We are both family men. If I don't start living right I am afraid I will do something desperate. What is the answer?

IN DEEP
DEAR IN DEEP: Tell your colleague in crime you're going to confess the amount you have taken, and would like to work out restitution, with interest. If he won't do likewise, it's his neck.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "L": Drop that pill, Grandpa, and get yourself a Valentine!

Family Attends Birthday Dinner

Mrs. Elba Blankenship, Route 2, Williamsport, was honored recently with a birthday dinner given at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Myers of Route 1, New Holland.

Guests included Mr. Elba Blankenship and their children, Goldie June and Richard, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Blankenship and children Rickey, Kristy, Tony and Gregg of Circleville; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Blankenship and children Sheila, Tina, Junior and Cindy, Delaware.

Following the dinner which included the traditional ice cream and cake the honored guest received many gifts. All the grandchildren joined in singing "Happy Birthday."

Woman's Death Being Probed

Inlaw of Murdered Lancasterite Dies

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (AP) — A Florida woman, the sister-in-law of a murdered Ohio woman, has died in Uniontown Hospital from what authorities said was a brain hemorrhage caused by a severe head blow.

Authorities said Mrs. Jean Wagner Francis, 45, of Sarasota, Fla., died Wednesday. She also had body bruises, possibly suffered before the head blows.

Fayette County detectives said Mrs. Francis, the mother of two, left Sarasota Feb. 9 and went to Lancaster, Ohio, to see Chris Wagner, whose wife, Virginia, 35, was found murdered Jan. 5.

Virginia, the mother of three, disappeared Dec. 19 after she went to a high school to pick up her son after basketball practice. Her body was found in a frozen creek. Police said she was strangled.

Police said Mrs. Francis became ill after she arrived in Lancaster. She was given medical attention. Tuesday she was taken to Uniontown Hospital in a state of semi-coma.

County Dist. Atty. John Hoyer said an investigation has been started into what he called the mysterious circumstances of Mrs. Francis' death.

Hoyer said he contacted Sheriff Ross E. Boyer of Sarasota County, Florida, who started an investigation there.

County Coroner W. Ralston McGee said Mrs. Francis' brain hemorrhage and the blow on the head were discovered in an autopsy. He said he feels she received the body bruises before suffering the hemorrhage.

Mrs. Wagner formerly lived at nearby Conneville.

Cleveland News Strike Hope Up

Peace Is Possible Under New Accord

CLEVELAND (AP) — Newspaper Guildsmen at the Cleveland Press and News have voted to accept management's latest two-year contract proposal provided certain conditions are met.

Outcome of the members' secret ballot Wednesday was 134-92 for acceptance of the full-package proposal. The vote also carried provisions that the proposal be made retroactive to Nov. 1 and that no union members lose their jobs.

Louis B. Seltzer, editor of the Press and News, said the amendments for retroactivity and job security will be acceptable to management.

Guild leaders estimated the offer provided a wage package of about $9.35 over the two years. Guild negotiators had recommended rejection of the package proposal on the grounds it fell short of the $10, two-year settlements made by the non-striking Pressman and Paperhandlers.

The Guild is one of five unions on strike against the Press and News and the Plain Dealer, which have been shut down for 77 days. Guildsmen at the Plain Dealer are expected to vote on management's newest contract proposal either Friday or Saturday. Their acceptance, which is expected, would, in effect, end the Guild strike.

As a result of the latest Press and News unit vote, its fight for stronger union security in the Scripps-Howard paper's commercial department is expected to end.

The management proposal on the key union security issue is for maintenance of membership at both papers. This means those in the Guild when agreement was reached would remain union members for the life of the new contract.

Management's proposal to the guild provided for raises of $5.25 and $4.75 to employees earning $145 and more a week. The top newsman minimum in the Guild contract that expired Oct. 31 was $145 after five years' experience.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Sen. Ross Pepple, R-Lima, wants to allow Ohio State University to expand its medical school to 200 entrants a year.

The chairman of the Senate Education Committee says he plans to present legislation to that effect. Cost of the increase in the class size from 150 has been estimated at $15 million.

U.S. Needs Clearinghouse On Important Collected Data

Lack of a clearinghouse for technical information is holding up work and causing extra expense on many space and defense projects, such as this capsule for the Gemini manned space shot.

By JAMES H. WINCHESTER
Central Press Association
Correspondent

WASHINGTON — An information blizzard of economic and scientific data, painfully and expensively collected at taxpayer's expense, is gathering dust in government files.

This sea of knowledge, which is being stockpiled even faster than the mountains of grain or hoards of defense material, is largely unused. Agency X doesn't know what Agency Y is doing, though both may have duplicate projects in the same field.

All of this is expensive duplication, of course, but it is more than that. It often causes delay in new weapons development, space projects or other spheres.

For years, American experts worked to solve an electric switching problem for a vital defense job. Finally, at a cost of several millions of dollars, they succeeded, only to discover the Russians had published the solution before they'd even started. The Russian technical journal was on file in another agency, but the defense project engineers had no way of knowing it was there.

A few years back, the civilian Space Agency was building a second-stage rocket booster, the Vega. At the same time, the Air Force was working on an almost identical rocket, the Agena B. Some $16 million were spent unnecessarily before someone realized the duplication.

Testimony Awaited in Sheriff's Trial

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Testimony is expected to be heard today in the trial of Belmont County Sheriff George E. Neff on one of four indictment counts—a charge that he tried to solicit bribes in Barnesville.

A jury was selected and opening statements were made Wednesday as the trial got underway. Jurors were taken to nearby Fairpoint where they inspected Miller's Nite Club. This is the spot operated by Neff's deputy, Steve Miller, who allegedly tried to arrange payment of money for protection of clubs in Barnesville, a "dry" community.

In his opening statement, Prosecutor William H. Irwin said the state would prove that Neff ordered Miller to contact officers of four Barnesville clubs. He said Miller was to inform them that since Neff was being accused of receiving bribes to shut his eyes to their beer sales "he may as well be getting the money."

Defense attorney Hugo Alexander denied Neff had anything to do with the reputed contacts. He claimed a plot was afoot to remove the sheriff. The attorney said beer dealers had been complaining about Barnesville clubs buying beer in Cambridge (Guernsey County) rather than in Belmont County.

Scouts Honor Bobby Kennedy

President To Deliver '50-Miler' Award

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representatives of the nation's 3.9 million Boy Scouts distributed copies of a hiking manual at the White House Wednesday, asked President Kennedy to deliver a special "50-miler award" to Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Scout Van Warren Johnson, 17, St. James, Minn., handed Kennedy a Scout 50-miler leather patch with a request that it be passed along to brother Robert.

"This is if you walk 50 miles?" the President asked.

"Yes, sir," Johnson replied. Grinning, Kennedy commented, "Good—thanks."

Robert F. Kennedy hiked 50 miles through Maryland on Saturday to match the endurance test the President suggested for Marine officers. Similar 50-mile walks were made last year by some 16,000 Boy Scouts and Explorer Scouts.

Twelve scouts from each national region visited the President to give him—their honorary president—an annual "report to the nation" on accomplishments in 1962.

Scout Ray Jones, 17, Pueblo, Colo., was in charge of seeing to it that hiking manuals were left at the White House.

For each of his 12 visitors, Kennedy had a gold PT-109 tie clip. He keeps a supply handy for just such occasions. A leather-bound report on Scout work in 1962 was handed the President by Neil N. Snyder III, 16, Elmendorf Air Force Base, Alaska.

A special copy of the Boy Scout handbook was presented by Conrad L. Plyler Jr., 16, Columbia, S.C.

Kennedy noted he bought a copy of the book when he was a scout in Bronxville, N.Y.

Kennedy's 1963 membership card as honorary Scout president, a role played by every chief executive since William Howard Taft, was presented by Frank E. Steiner, 16, South Bend, Ind.

Findlay College Rebels Stir Up Hassle

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — Rebel leaders appear to have succeeded in stirring up a hassle on the Findlay College campus.

The latest development in the fuss between a student group and administrative officials came Wednesday with the announcement that an English instructor has resigned.

Edward Morris, who joined the faculty in 1960, submitted his resignation to President O. J. Wilson, who accepted it at once.

Morris said he quit his faculty post in "protest of administrative pressures on the recently formed student complaints committee."

He charged the administration with using "foul and unprincipled practices" in what he called systematic efforts to crush "the one example of independent thought" he has seen at the school.

John Krouse of North Baltimore, chairman of the Student Complaint Committee, said his group intends to continue its campaign of newsletters itemizing complaints.

The latest one, released Wednesday, criticized the college's entrance standards as too low, protested the supposed poor state of the college library and called the student government association inadequate.

Krouse said the administration has been pressuring his group by threatening disciplinary action to quell the rebellion.

But a school official said that of the 53 students who signed up to join the committee, at least 30 have disassociated themselves from it.

Election Board Changes Made

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Secretary of State Ted W. Brown named Mrs. Florence Roof of Otawa as a Republican member of the Putnam County election board to fill the unexpired term of the late Harry F. Cahill of Pandora, ending Feb. 29, 1964.

Brown appointed Eugene F. Croup of Clark as a Republican member of the Coshocton County board and received the resignation of Harold F. Wortman of Hamden as a Republican member of the Vinton County board to become county highway superintendent.

Gas Company Plans Expansion Of Underground Storage Areas

The Ohio Fuel Gas Co. is planning a $1,207,000 expansion of its underground storage facilities this year as part of a continuing effort to assure adequate supplies of natural gas for present customers and provide more gas for new customers, it was announced today.

D. R. Cotterman, Circleville manager for Ohio Fuel said the company will drill 53 new storage wells in 10 existing underground storage areas to improve input and output capacity from storage.

Severe cold weather, like that experienced by Ohioans throughout Ohio Fuel's 56-county territory last month, point up the value of these storage areas Cotterman said. Because of underground storage, Ohio Fuel was able to deliver adequate supplies of natural gas for home heating during January's record-breaking cold wave, he said.

At the beginning of the current heating season, Ohio Fuel has 210 billion cubic feet of natural gas in its 10 underground storage areas strategically located throughout the state.

As these demands for gas increase, it is necessary for Ohio Fuel to increase the amount of gas stored and also step up the input and output rate of the gas to and from storage, the local manager explained. The amount of gas that can be stored in summer and taken out of storage on severe cold days is, to a great extent, dependent on the number of storage wells.

To improve this input and output capacity, Ohio Fuel must drill additional wells into the storage fields, Cotterman said.

Of the 53 new storage wells to be drilled, 28 will be located in the Holmes Storage area, in Ashland and Wayne Counties; 11 will be in Weaver, in Ashland and Richland Counties; and five will be in Benton, in Hocking County. The nine additional wells, including five to replace existing storage wells which have become inoperable, will be in various areas to be designated later.

Luis Longonia Jr. lost his appeal Wednesday after lower court decisions upheld his discharge by, Police Chief Frank L. Powlak. A civil service commission had sustained Powlak.

Longonia had sent a letter to Powlak the day before the May 30, 1961, parade saying that as a member of the Jehovah's Witness sect he could not march with a police unit as directed. Longonia also told Powlak he had a sore toe.

Counsel for Longonia claimed he could march for the benefit of his sect but that his beliefs kept him from taking part in a Memorial Day parade.

The attorney said it was not against Longonia's religion to carry firearms as a policeman and use force to protect citizens. But it was explained that Longonia's beliefs prevented him from bearing arms in defense of his country.

Memorial Day commemorates the dead in the Civil War and other conflicts.

Woman's Death Being Probed

Inlaw of Murdered Lancasterite Dies

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (AP) — A Florida woman, the sister-in-law of a murdered Ohio woman, has died in Uniontown Hospital from what authorities said was a brain hemorrhage caused by a severe head blow.

Authorities said Mrs. Jean Wagner Francis, 45, of Sarasota, Fla., died Wednesday. She also had body bruises, possibly suffered before the head blows.

Payette County detectives said Mrs. Francis, the mother of two, left Sarasota Feb. 9 and went to Lancaster, Ohio, to see Chris Wagner, whose wife, Virginia, 35, was found murdered Jan. 5.

Virginia, the mother of three, disappeared Dec. 19 after she went to a high school to pick up her son after basketball practice. Her body was found in a frozen creek. Police said she was strangled.

Police said Mrs. Francis became ill after she arrived in Lancaster. She was given medical attention. Tuesday she was taken to Uniontown Hospital in a state of semi-coma.

County Dist. Atty. John Hoyer said an investigation has been started into what he called the mysterious circumstances of Mrs. Francis' death.

Hoyer said he contacted Sheriff Ross E. Boyer of Sarasota County, Florida, who started an investigation there.

County Coroner W. Ralston McGee said Mrs. Francis' brain hemorrhage and the blow on the head were discovered in an autopsy. He said he feels she received the body bruises before suffering the hemorrhage.

Mrs. Wagner formerly lived at nearby Conneville.

Cleveland News Strike Hope Up

Peace Is Possible Under New Accord

CLEVELAND (AP) — Newspaper Guildsmen at the Cleveland Press and News have voted to accept management's latest two-year contract proposal providing certain conditions are met.

Outcome of the members' secret ballot Wednesday was 134-92 for acceptance of the full-package proposal. The vote also carried provisions that the proposal be made retroactive to Nov. 1 and that no union members lose their jobs.

Louis B. Seltzer, editor of the Press and News, said the amendments for retroactivity and job security will be acceptable to management.

Guild leaders estimated the offer provided a wage package of about $9.35 over the two years. Guild negotiators had recommended rejection of the package proposal on the grounds it fell short of the $10, two-year settlements made by the non-striking Pressman and Paperhandlers.

The Guild is one of five unions on strike against the Press and News and the Plain Dealer, which have been shut down for 77 days. Guildsmen at the Plain Dealer are expected to vote on management's newest contract proposal either Friday or Saturday. Their acceptance, which is expected, would, in effect, end the Guild strike.

As a result of the latest Press and News unit vote, its fight for stronger union security in the Scripps-Howard paper's commercial department is expected to end.

The management proposal on the key union security issue is for maintenance of membership at both papers. This means those in the Guild when agreement was reached would remain union members for the life of the new contract.

Management's proposal to the guild provided for raises of $5.25 and $4.75 to employees earning $145 and more a week. The top newsman minimum in the Guild contract that expired Oct. 31 was $145 after five years' experience.

Solon Seeks Expansion Of OSU Medical School

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Sen. Ross Pepple, R-Lima, wants to allow Ohio State University to expand its medical school to 200 entrants a year.

The chairman of the Senate Education Committee says he plans to present legislation to that effect. Cost of the increase in the class size from 150 has been estimated at $15 million.

U.S. Needs Clearinghouse On Important Collected Data

Lack of a clearinghouse for technical information is holding up work and causing extra expense on many space and defense projects, such as this capsule for the Gemini manned space shot.

By JAMES H. WINCHESTER
Central Press Association
Correspondent

WASHINGTON — An information blizzard of economic and scientific data, painfully and expensively collected at taxpayer's expense, is gathering dust in government files.

This sea of knowledge, which is being stockpiled even faster than the mountains of grain or hoards of defense material, is largely unused. Agency X doesn't know what Agency Y is doing, though both may have duplicate projects in the same field.

All of this is expensive duplication, of course, but it is more than that. It often causes delay in new weapons development, space projects or other spheres.

For years, American experts worked to solve an electric switching problem for a vital defense job. Finally, at a cost of several millions of dollars, they succeeded, only to discover the Russians had published the solution before they'd even started. The Russian technical journal was on file in another agency, but the defense project engineers had no way of knowing it was there.

A few years back, the civilian Space Agency was building a second-stage rocket booster, the Vega. At the same time, the Air Force was working on an almost identical rocket, the Agena B. Some $16 million were spent unnecessarily before someone realized the duplication.

A committee, headed by James

Crawford, editor of the Journal of Applied Physics, appointed by President Kennedy, has been looking into this duplication of information.

Their committee's report has not been made public, but copies are circulating unofficially around Washington. Its main recommendation is for a government-wide clearinghouse for information on all current and proposed research projects.

If adopted, the scientific and technical units of the Library of Congress, Smithsonian Institution, Department of Commerce and the National Science Foundation would be incorporated under one roof, and there would be prompt and complete exchange of information among all government agencies and private research concerns.

Chairman Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) who heads a Senate Subcommittee on Government Reorganization, which has been pushing for something like the Crawford Committee recommendations for the past five years, estimates that the Defense Department alone wastes more than $1 billion a year by inadequate management of its scientific and technical information, which results in duplicated efforts.

The committee cites the case of a new Air Force missile which was held up for months because of a tricky valve. Then the Air Force found one of its own researchers working on high altitude balloons who knew all about the problem and could have solved it in a day's time.

This year, according to the Humphrey Committee, the government will spend some $12 billion dollars on scientific and technical research — twice as much as private industry. However, largely, government agencies do not know what the private concerns are doing in the same field, or even what other agencies in the government are doing along similar lines. As a result everyone gets only a fraction of the benefits of the research they pay for.

One big government contractor estimates that it is easier to carry out a $100,000 research project from scratch than to try and find out in Washington if someone else already knows the answer.

So far, no one in Washington has shown too much enthusiasm for the Crawford Committee's recommendations for consolidation, largely by bureaucratic reluctance to yield control over part of one's empire.

Election Board Changes Made

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Secretary of State Ted W. Brown has named Mrs. Florence Roof of Otawa as a Republican member of the Putnam County election board to fill the unexpired term of the late Harry F. Cahill of Pandora, ending Feb. 29, 1964.

Brown appointed Eugene F. Croup of Clark as a Republican member of the Coshocton County board and received the resignation of Harold F. Wortman of Hamden as a Republican member of the Vinton County board to become county highway superintendent.

President To Deliver '50-Miler' Award

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representatives of the nation's 3.9 million Boy Scouts distributed copies of a hiking manual at the White House Wednesday, asked President Kennedy to deliver a special "50-miler award" to Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Scout Van Warren Johnson, 17, St. James, Minn., handed Kennedy a Scout 50-miler leather patch with a request that it be passed along to brother Robert.

"This is if you walk 50 miles?" the President asked.

"Yes, sir," Johnson replied. Grinning, Kennedy commented, "Good—thanks."

Robert F. Kennedy hiked 50 miles through Maryland on Saturday to match the endurance test the President suggested for Marine officers. Similar 50-mile walks were made last year by some 16,000 Boy Scouts and Explorer Scouts.

Twelve scouts from each national region visited the President to give him—their honorary president—an annual "report to the nation" on accomplishments in 1962.

Scout Ray Jones, 17, Pueblo, Colo., was in charge of seeing to it that hiking manuals were left at the White House.

For each of his 12 visitors, Kennedy had a gold PT-109 tie clip. He keeps a supply handy for just such occasions. A leather-bound report on Scout work in 1962 was handed the President by Neil N. Snyder III, 16, Elmhurst Air Force Base, Alaska.

A special copy of the Boy Scout handbook was presented by Conrad L. Plyler Jr., 16, Columbia, S.C.

Kennedy noted he bought a copy of the book when he was a scout in Bronxville, N.Y.

Kennedy's 1963 membership card as honorary Scout president, a role played by every chief executive since William Howard Taft, was presented by Frank E. Steiner, 16, South Bend, Ind.

Findlay College Rebels Stir Up Hassle

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — Rebel leaders appear to have succeeded in stirring up a hassle on the Findlay College campus.

The latest development in the fuss between a student group and administrative officials came Wednesday with the announcement that an English instructor has resigned.

Edward Morris, who joined the faculty in 1960, submitted his resignation to President O. J. Wilson, who accepted it at once.

Morris said he quit his faculty post in "protest of administrative pressures on the recently formed student complaints committee."

He charged the administration with using "foul and unprincipled practices" in what he called systematic efforts to crush "the one example of independent thought" he has seen at the school.

John Krouse of North Baltimore, chairman of the Student Complaint Committee, said his group intends to continue its campaign of newsletters itemizing complaints.

The latest one, released Wednesday, criticized the college's entrance standards as too low, protested the supposed poor state of the college library and called the student government association inadequate.

Krouse said the administration has been pressuring his group by threatening disciplinary action to quell the rebellion.

But a school official said that of the 53 students who signed up to join the committee, at least 30 have disassociated themselves from it.

Gas Company Plans Expansion Of Underground Storage Areas

The Ohio Fuel Gas Co. is planning a $1,207,000 expansion of its underground storage facilities this year as part of a continuing effort to assure adequate supplies of natural gas for present customers and provide more gas for new customers, it was announced today.

D. R. Cotterman, Circleville manager for Ohio Fuel said the company will drill 53 new storage wells in 10 existing underground storage areas to improve input and output capacity from storage.

Severe cold weather, like that experienced by Ohioans throughout Ohio Fuel's 56-county territory last month, point up the value of these storage areas Cotterman said. Because of underground storage, Ohio Fuel was able to deliver adequate supplies of natural gas for home heating during January's record-breaking cold wave, he said.

At the beginning of the current heating season, Ohio Fuel has 210 billion cubic feet of natural gas in its 10 underground storage areas strategically located throughout the state.

As these demands for gas increase, it is necessary for Ohio Fuel to increase the amount of gas stored and also step up the input and output rate of the gas to and from storage, the local manager explained. The amount of gas that can be stored in summer and taken out of storage on severe cold days is, to a great extent, dependent on the number of storage wells.

To improve this input and output capacity, Ohio Fuel must drill additional wells into the storage fields, Cotterman said.

Of the 53 new storage wells to be drilled, 28 will be located in the Holmes Storage area, in Ashland and Wayne Counties; 11 will be in Weaver, in Ashland and Richland Counties; and five will be in Benton, in Hocking County. The nine additional wells, including five to replace existing storage wells which have become inoperable, will be in various areas to be designated later.

Longonia had sent a letter to Powlak the day before the May 30, 1961, parade saying that as a member of the Jehovah's Witness sect he could not march with a police unit as directed. Longonia also told Powlak he had a sore toe.

Counsel for Longonia claimed he could march for the benefit of his sect but that his beliefs kept him from taking part in a Memorial Day parade.

The attorney said it was not against Longonia's religion to carry firearms as a policeman and use force to protect citizens. But it was explained that Longonia's beliefs prevented him from bearing arms in defense of his country.

Memorial Day commemorates the dead in the Civil War and other conflicts.

Seibert Duvall, acting in the absence of President Benis Lutz, presided when the Ashville Kiwanis Club met for a scheduled meeting.

Hal Richard, chairman of the agricultural and conservation committee, was in charge of the program. Gene Vonins introduced the guest speaker, Maurice Weiting, a vice president of the Farm Bureau. He spoke on food — its availability in different areas of the world — and made a comparison between the United States and Russia concerning agriculture.

Richard then presented representatives of the co-sponsors who sent Bob Peters and Boyd Boone to the short course at Ohio State University. Recognized were Joe Brooks of Ashville Grain, George Kuhn of the Ashville Bank, Gene Vonins of the Farm Bureau Dehydrator and the local club.

Bill Wharton, representing Ohio State University, presented a certificate to the club for its active participation.

Dorwin Hay of the boys and girls committee announced that "Boy Scout Nite" would be the program for the next meeting. Several Scouts were to be guests along with a scout representative from the district or regional office.

It was announced that the Lieutenant Governor will be present for the March 5 meeting.

Friday evening Teays Valley will host Logan Elm for the Homecoming basketball game and festivities. The reserve game will start at 7 p. m.

At half-time of the reserve game the Teays Valley Basketball Queen and her court will be introduced. Vieing for the title are freshman attendant Beverly Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Morris of Orient; sophomore attendant Kathy Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gray, Route 1, Ashville; junior attendant Barbara Blue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Blue, Route 3, Circleville; and senior representatives (one will be named queen and the other will serve as an attendant) Kathy Courtright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Courtright, of Ashville and Andy Trimble, daughter of Sgt. and Mrs. William Trimble of Ashville.

Following the game a Homecoming Dance will be held in the school cafeteria, with music by the High School Band. Student Council will be in charge of arrangements and cheerleaders will handle the decorating.

Ashville Brownie Troop No. 238 held its monthly meeting at the Ashville Methodist Church Monday evening.

Fourteen girls and two leaders, Mrs. Chester Peters and Mrs. Archie Stewart, were present.

Receiving of the flag that had been flown over the White House in Washington D. C. provided a thrill. The flag was purchased with their own funds.

Members made Valentine ladies and the leaders served refreshments.

Dr. Sam's Kin Takes Own Life

Father-in-Law Said 'Tired of It All'

CLEVELAND (AP) — The 62-year-old father-in-law of convicted wife-slayer Sam Sheppard, has taken his own life with a shotgun blast.

"I'm tired of it all. Goodbye," Thomas S. Reese said in a note on a couch in an East Cleveland motel room where he was found dead, Detective Sgt. Fred Schuller said. A 16-gauge shotgun lay near the body.

Reese was the father of murdered Marilyn Sheppard. He reportedly had lived at the motel for several years. He was vice president of Di-Noc Chemical Arts Co., a photographic materials producer.

He remarried after Marilyn's mother died when Marilyn was a small child.

Dr. Lester Adelson said Reese apparently shot himself in the head.

Reese, noted for his quiet manner, had declined comment on the jury verdict which convicted Dr. Sam of the bludgeoning slaying of his pregnant wife in their suburban Bay Village home on July 4, 1954.

Sheppard was sentenced to life in prison for second-degree murder. His parents are dead. His mother shot herself after his trial ended late in 1954.

Last week Dr. Sam was returned to Ohio Penitentiary from Marion Correctional Institution by Maury Koblenz, corrections commissioner.

Navy Says Rickover To Retain Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy, steering away from a possible clash with Congress, intends to keep Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover on the job after retirement.

Whether he stays with the Navy as a three-star admiral or as a civilian specialist at about the same pay probably will be up to him, authorities said.

Rickover, 63, who has been at odds with many of the senior admirals in the past and was almost forced out of service through a refusal to promote him 10 years ago, has nearly a year to make up his mind.

He will reach the mandatory retirement age of 64 next Jan. 27.

The question of whether the controversial Rickover would be retained by the Navy has been raised by some members of Congress who have backed the man credited with the leading role in developing an atomic Navy.

These powerful members of Congress have suggested that action should be started now to make sure Rickover's talents are not lost to the Navy when he retires.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration's re-examination of its foreign policy is like a doctor, with some ailments of his own, trying to prescribe for patients with everything from whooping cough to paranoia.

This re-examination is only one of many which must be made, not only during President Kennedy's time but long afterward, because the problems vary from nationalism and communism to fanaticism and pauperism.

His obstructionism is a direct product of his nationalism.

But it is also nationalism which has made a farce of the Marxists' idea that communism eliminates nationalism with a special glue which keeps Communist nations together.

The Russians are as nationalist as the French, or the Americans, although they talk in big brother language.

Rehearings Hinted In Liquor Cases

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The possibility appeared today that the Ohio Board of Liquor Control may have to rehear the cases of 55 bar operators on its docket during the past three years.

Kenneth E. Thomas, the new board chairman, said he is having research made of the law to determine what disposition can be made in the cases which resulted in no decision or board deadlocks.

The cases in question were heard by the board during the time Creed J. Lester, a Democrat, was chairman and John Cianflora was a Republican member. They were replaced last week by Thomas, a Republican, and John Benson, a Democrat.

The Russians have gone through the usual period of fanaticism of early crusaders and revolutionaries. Stalin, Lenin, and the other early bolsheviks were fanatics.

Their fanaticism was stoked by poverty. But they built up fast.

Now, compared with the early bolshevik days, the Russians are an affluent society. With that affluence — that is, possessions — comes a degree of conservatism and some loss of the early crusading zeal because now they have something to lose by taking risks.

The Red Chinese, whose leaders still alive were the original leaders of their revolution and therefore are comparable to the early bolsheviks, are in exactly the same economic condition as the Russians at the time of their revolution.

The Red Chinese leaders are making up for lost time with efforts to give their people a pride in nation and a sense of purpose, both basic parts of a necessary philosophy if the Chinese masses are to submit to discipline and sacrifices.

Thus, in China as in Russia, communism is piled on top of nationalism. But it is because of the nationalism, not communism, that a separatism between Russia and Red China was inevitable.

In Japan, a highly efficient society with a cohesiveness that their long island isolation turned into cement, nationalism is intense. India has it, less intense but growing. No nation in Europe is without it.

It will grow in Africa, although it may take another generation to cause the trouble it is almost certain to cause in that conglomeration of new nations. And if communism gets in there the confusion will be compounded.

On top of all this is the poverty of Africa and Latin America, too. The latter, while it has its own various forms of nationalism, is a land acutely divided between the rich and the very poor.

This fact may cause the Kennedy administration to make profound re-examinations of policy if the Southern Hemisphere is to be saved from communism because, unless the Latin American masses quickly begin to share in the world's wealth, the quick promises of communism will be unanswerable.

By James Marlow

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Light snow fell in most sections of Ohio Wednesday night as a low over the upper Great Lakes reached far to the north into Canada for arctic air and whipped it rapidly into central sections of the country.

Brisk winds today from the west and northwest will be accompanied by light snow flurries through all of Ohio.

Clearing is forecast and temperatures will be much colder with near zero readings expected in portions of the northern counties.

Fair and cold is the likely Friday except for a chance of a few snow flurries in the northeast counties.

Temperatures early today included Cleveland 18, Marietta 27 and Cincinnati, Zanesville and Columbus 22.

Ashville News Report

By Mrs. Arthur Deal Jr.
Phone YU 3-6111

Seibert Duvall, acting in the absence of President Benis Lutz, presided when the Ashville Kiwanis Club met for a scheduled meeting.

Hal Richard, chairman of the agricultural and conservation committee, was in charge of the program. Gene Vonlins introduced the guest speaker, Maurice Weiting, a vice president of the Farm Bureau. He spoke on food — its availability in different areas of the world — and made a comparison between the United States and Russia concerning agriculture.

Richard then presented representatives of the co-sponsors who sent Bob Peters and Boyd Boone to the short course at Ohio State University. Recognized were Joe Brooks of Ashville Grain, George Kuhn of the Ashville Bank, Gene Vonlins of the Farm Bureau Dehydrator and the local club.

Bill Wharton, representing Ohio State University, presented a certificate to the club for its active participation.

Dorwin Hay of the boys and girls committee announced that "Boy Scout Nite" would be the program for the next meeting. Several Scouts were to be guests along with a scout representative from the district or regional office.

It was announced that the Lieutenant Governor will be present for the March 5 meeting.

Friday evening Teays Valley will host Logan Elm for the Homecoming basketball game and festivities. The reserve game will start at 7 p. m.

At halftime of the reserve game the Teays Valley Basketball Queen and her court will be introduced. Vieing for the title are freshman attendant Beverly Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Morris of Orient; sophomore attendant Kathy Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gray, Route 1, Ashville; junior attendant Barbara Blue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Blue, Route 3, Circleville; and senior representatives (one will be named queen and the other will serve as an attendant) Kathy Courtright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Courtright, of Ashville and Andy Trimble, daughter of Sgt. and Mrs. William Trimble of Ashville.

Following the game a Homecoming Dance will be held in the school cafeteria, with music by the High School Band. Student Council will be in charge of arrangements and cheerleaders will handle the decorating.

Ashville Brownie Troop No. 238 held its monthly meeting at the Ashville Methodist Church Monday evening.

Fourteen girls and two leaders, Mrs. Chester Peters and Mrs. Archie Stewart, were present.

Receiving of the flag that had been flown over the White House in Washington D. C. provided a thrill. The flag was purchased with their own funds.

Members made Valentine ladies and the leaders served refreshments

Grocer's Slayer Fails To Escape Electric Chair

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Donald L. Reinbolt, 30, must die in Ohio Penitentiary's electric chair March 15. The Ohio Supreme Court rejected his appeal and set the date Wednesday.

The date for execution of Reinbolt, convicted of the Aug. 28, 1961, holdup-slaying of Columbus grocer Edgar L. Weaver, 69, is one month to the day after Friday night's scheduled electrocution of Cleveland slayer Robert Griffin, 43

Mrs. Mary Pierce entered the Hair Coloring and Styling Alumni contest at Veteran's Memorial Auditorium in Columbus. The event, along with a separate contest for students, was sponsored by the Ohio School of Cosmetology.

Mrs. Pierce placed fourth among 60 contestants. She received a plaque for the honor. A total of five winners was picked from each group.

Modeling for Mrs. Pierce was Miss Rosemary Runkle.

Also a contestant in the student group was Mrs. Norman Russell, the former Phyllis Bozman of Ashville.

Ashville Girl Scout Senior Troop, under the leadership of Mrs. Joe Vause and Mrs. William Trimble will hold a bake sale 10 a. m. Saturday at Bastian's Coffee Shop.

Mrs. Charles Wilson of South Bloomfield suffered a broken kneecap Saturday when she fell in her home. She was taken to Riverside Methodist Hospital by the Bastian Funeral Home ambulance.

The Ashville Garden Club will meet in the home of Mrs. Elmer Siegle 8 p. m. today.

All Freshmen and their parents are reminded to attend a meeting Feb. 21 designed as a study on student curriculum for the coming year. Student's will register at the school the following day for the courses they have chosen for their sophomore year.

Mrs. Curtis Cromley underwent major surgery Monday in University Hospital. She is in room 619.

The Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Ashville Methodist Church will hold a Pancake and Waffle Supper Feb. 20 in the church basement. The public is invited.

The Ashville PTA meeting will be 7:30 p. m. Feb. 21 in the school auditorium.

The Couples Class of the Evangelical United Brethren Church will meet this Saturday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Art Mershon for a business meeting and social hour.

Ed Schlegel is reported in "poor" condition in University Hospital, Columbus.

S. E. Beers was honored Saturday evening by Teays Valley Board of Education member and their wives in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Dountz.

Mr. Beers recently resigned his job as school board clerk. He served for many years for both Scioto Township and Teays Valley.

Mrs. Dountz prepared turkey and dressing and the other wives brought a covered dish. Mr. Beers was presented a gift from the group. The evening was spent visiting and viewing the colored slides taken by the Dountz's son, Nick, while he was stationed with the Air Force in France.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. George D. McDowell, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Gregg, Mr. and Mrs. Benis Lutz, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vause, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Beers, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hines, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Tosca, Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Sheets and Mrs. Beers.

The Ashville Methodist Church Fellowship Class will meet 7:30 p. m. Sunday in the church basement. Hostesses will be Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Purcell. The January committee will lead the devotions.

Dr. Sam's Kin Takes Own Life

Father-in-Law Said
'Tired of It All'

CLEVELAND (AP) — The 62-year-old father-in-law of convicted wife-slayer Sam Sheppard, has taken his own life with a shotgun blast.

"I'm tired of it all. Goodbye," Thomas S. Reese said in a note on a couch in an East Cleveland motel room where he was found dead, Detective Sgt. Fred Schuller said. A 16-gauge shotgun lay near the body.

Reese was the father of murdered Marilyn Sheppard. He reportedly had lived at the motel for several years. He was vice president of Di-Noc Chemical Arts Co., a photographic materials producer.

He remarried after Marilyn's mother died when Marilyn was a small child.

Dr. Lester Adelson said Reese apparently shot himself in the head.

Reese, noted for his quiet manner, had declined comment on the jury verdict which convicted Dr. Sam of the bludgeon slaying of his pregnant wife in their suburban Bay Village home on July 4, 1954.

Sheppard was sentenced to life in prison for second-degree murder. His parents are dead. His mother shot herself after his trial ended late in 1954.

Last week Dr. Sam was returned to Ohio Penitentiary from Marion Correctional Institution by Maury Koblenz, corrections commissioner.

Removal of the 39-year-old osteopath to the more disciplined maximum security institution came after recent publicity surrounding Sheppard's reported romance with a 33-year-old German divorcee, Mrs. Ariane Tebbenjohanns.

Navy Says Rickover To Retain Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy, steering away from a possible clash with Congress, intends to keep Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover on the job after retirement.

Whether he stays with the Navy as a three-star admiral or as a civilian specialist at about the same pay probably will be up to him, authorities said.

Rickover, 63, who has been at odds with many of the senior admirals in the past and was almost forced out of service through a refusal to promote him 10 years ago, has nearly a year to make up his mind.

He will reach the mandatory retirement age of 64 next Jan. 27. The question of whether the controversial Rickover would be retained by the Navy has been raised by some members of Congress who have backed the man credited with the leading role in developing an atomic Navy.

These powerful members of Congress have suggested that action should be started now to make sure Rickover's talents are not lost to the Navy when he retires.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Work on an $8.1 million electric gas dynamo facility at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton is scheduled to begin next month.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration's re-examination of its foreign policy is like a doctor, with some ailments of his own, trying to prescribe for patients with everything from whooping cough to paranoia.

This re-examination is only one of many which must be made, not only during President Kennedy's time but long afterward, because the problems vary from nationalism and communism to fanaticism and pauperism.

The immediate look, because it is the most immediate problem, is at this country's policy in Europe where President de Gaulle, a French nationalist above everything else, is baffling the Atlantic alliance and the Common Market. His obstructionism is a direct product of his nationalism.

But it is also nationalism which has made a farce of the Marxists' idea that communism eliminates nationalism with a special glue which keeps Communist nations together.

The Russians are as nationalists as the French, or the Americans, although they talk in big brother language.

Rehearings Hinted In Liquor Cases

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The possibility appeared today that the Ohio Board of Liquor Control may have to rehear the cases of 55 bar operators on its docket during the past three years.

Kenneth E. Thomas, the new board chairman, said he is having research made of the law to determine what disposition can be made in the cases which resulted in no decision or board deadlocks.

The cases in question were heard by the board during the time Creed J. Lester, a Democrat, was chairman and John Cianfona was a Republican member. They were replaced last week by Thomas, a Republican, and John Benson, a Democrat.

The Russians have gone through the usual period of fanaticism of early crusaders and revolutionaries. Stalin, Lenin, and the other early bolsheviks were fanatics.

Their fanaticism was stoked by poverty. But they built up fast. Now, compared with the early bolshevik days, the Russians are an affluent society. With that affluence — that is, possessions — comes a degree of conservatism and some loss of the early crusading zeal because now they have something to lose by taking risks.

The Red Chinese, whose leaders still alive were the original leaders of their revolution and therefore are comparable to the early bolsheviks, are in exactly the same economic condition as the Russians at the time of their revolution.

The Red Chinese leaders are making up for lost time with efforts to give their people a pride in nation and a sense of purpose, both basic parts of a necessary philosophy if the Chinese masses are to submit to discipline and sacrifices.

Thus, in China as in Russia, communism is piled on top of nationalism. But it is because of the nationalism, not communism, that a separatism between Russia and Red China was inevitable.

In Japan, a highly efficient society with a cohesiveness that their long island isolation turned into cement, nationalism is intense. India has it, less intense but growing. No nation in Europe is without it.

It will grow in Africa, although it may take another generation to cause the trouble it is almost certain to cause in that conglomeration of new nations. And if communism gets in there the confusion will be compounded.

On top of all this is the poverty of Africa and Latin America, too. The latter, while it has its own various forms of nationalism, is a land acutely divided between the rich and the very poor.

This fact may cause the Kennedy administration to make profound re-examinations of policy if

By James Marlow

the Southern Hemisphere is to be saved from communism because, unless the Latin American masses quickly begin to share in the world's wealth, the quick promises of communism will be unanswerable.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Light snow fell in most sections of Ohio Wednesday night as a low over the upper Great Lakes reached far to the north into Canada for arctic air and whipped it rapidly into central sections of the country.

Brisk winds today from the west and northwest will be accompanied by light snow flurries through all of Ohio.

Clearing is forecast and temperatures will be much colder with near zero readings expected in portions of the northern counties.

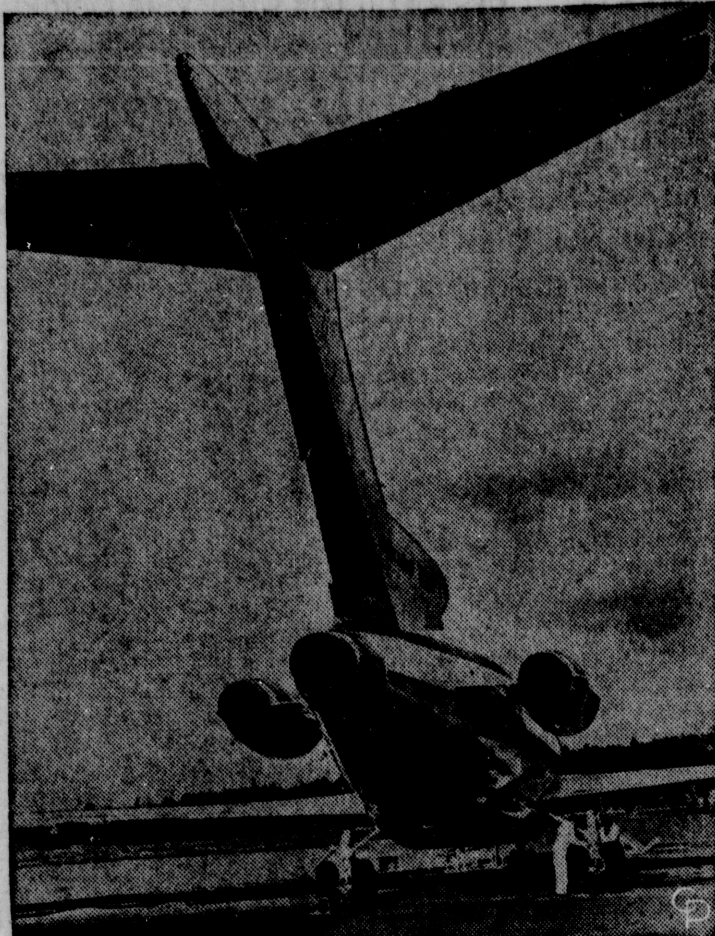

Fair and cold is the likely Friday except for a chance of a few snow flurries in the northeast counties.

Temperatures early today included Cleveland 18, Marietta 27 and Cincinnati, Zanesville and Columbus 22.

Judge Orders Briefs In Cincinnati Strike

CINCINNATI (AP) — Common Schneider has given attorneys for the AFL-CIO United Auto Workers Union and the Trailmobile Corp. 14 days to file briefs about a dispute that stems from a wildcat strike last month.

Trailmobile's 1,100 employees walked out on Jan. 21 to protest changes in work rules. The company has accused officers of Auto Workers Local 392 of not trying hard enough to make them go back to work.

East Cancels Mat Meeting With Tigers

Sectional Matches Are Slated To Start Feb. 22 at Whitehall

Circleville High School wrestling coach Dave LaBounty announced today that Columbus East has cancelled Saturday's scheduled meet with the Tigers.

LaBounty said the East officials said only they wished to cancel for financial reasons.

The Tiger wrestling mentor said he had not been able to schedule another match Saturday, although he had been trying to contact Lancaster High School.

The sectional matches of the Central District tournament begin Feb. 22. Wrestling coaches from the 34-school central district are scheduled to meet Feb. 20 at Whitehall High School to complete plans for the tourney.

Pat McMillan, director of the Central District, announced today that attempts will be made at the gathering to seed four wrestlers in each of the 11 weight classifications.

There are five defending champions in the district: Aziz Dere of Franklin Heights, John Holloway of Pleasant View, Alan Rosenblum of Whitehall, Tim Mogan of Circleville and Don Pinkston of Walnut Ridge. Franklin Heights is the defending team champion.

Pit '5' Gains Revenge on Mountaineers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pitt's Panthers may have won bigger games or scored victories that were more satisfying. But not this season. That's for sure.

Two weeks ago at Pitt, the Panthers lost a heart-breaking one-point decision to West Virginia, 68-67, when a potential winning field goal with one second left was not allowed.

The Panthers, unranked nationally but one of the country's better independents, made up for that one with a 69-68 triumph at West Virginia Wednesday night.

Paul Krieger dropped in two free throws with 12 seconds left to provide the tying and winning points as the Panthers advanced their record to 15-4 for the season.

Duke and Georgia Tech protected their positions in the top ten rankings, but each had trouble doing it. Third-ranked Duke won it 12th in a row in a 79-74 edge over Virginia at Charlottesville and 10th ranked Georgia Tech broke out of a two-game losing slump at the expense of Vanderbilt, 69-62.

In some of the other major games Tennessee State upset St. Bonaventure 86-85; Notre Dame crushed Gannon 82-47; South Carolina whipped Furman 67-56; Navy blasted Rutgers 92-60; Villanova routed St. John's 52-32; Dayton edged Duquesne 58-57; and Davidson beat Richmond 72-57.

Knicks Record New Mark in Cage Futility

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New York Knicks seem to be setting new marks for futility in the National Basketball Association this season.

As Eastern Division tail-enders, the Knicks have managed to win only 16 of 60 games so far. Loss No. 44 came Wednesday night the hard way—the Knicks had a three point lead and the ball in their possession with 15 seconds to go, and blew it to the St. Louis Hawks 103-102.

Up at the other end of the standings, the Los Angeles Lakers, leaders in the West, rallied for a 134-128 victory over the Boston Celtics, Eastern pacesetters. The Cincinnati Royals beat the Syracuse Nats 124-122 at Indianapolis and the Detroit Pistons nipped the San Francisco Warriors 134-132 in overtime in other NBA games.

Cliff Hagan netted the Hawks' last four points at New York, hitting the winner, on a jump shot with one second to go as St. Louis overhauled the Knicks.

Boxing Is Freed Of Gangland Tie

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Legitimate boxing is breathing easier—Frankie Carbo probably won't be back.

The onetime underworld boxing lord will stay in federal prison because the U.S. Court of Appeals affirmed Wednesday his conviction for conspiracy and extortion.

Two Carbo henchmen, Frank (Blinky) Palermo and Joseph Sica, will go to prison because their similar convictions were upheld. The court also affirmed the suspended sentence of Truman Gibson Jr., but overturned the conviction of Louis Tom Dragna.

Jaipur, 3-year-old champion of 1962, won the Gotham Stakes, the Withers, Belmont, Choice and Travers.

Toledo Leads Mid-Am Chase

Rockets, BeeGees Both Chalk Wins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Determined Toledo held first place in the wild Mid-American Conference scramble today.

The Rockets took over sole possession of the top spot Wednesday night with a surprisingly easy 80-44 victory over Western Michigan. The important win boosted Toledo's league record to 6-2 while the Broncos slipped to third with a 5-3 showing.

Bowling Green stayed right in the thick of things by topping Kent State 59-55. The Falcons are even with Toledo in the games department with a 7-3 mark but have a .700 average, compared to the Rockets' .750.

In another MAC tiff, Ohio University kept its slim hopes for a title alive by trouncing last-place Marshall 93-73.

In other headlines, Louisville nipped Xavier 70-68 in overtime, Dayton shaded Duquesne 58-57, St. Francis (Pa.) edged Steubenville 72-68 and Ohio Wesleyan downed Denison 60-55.

Elsewhere, Findlay turned back Central Michigan 83-74, Tri-State (Ind.) clipped Defiance 82-79, Ohio Northern battered Hillsdale (Mich.) 78-51 and Case Tech romped over Allegheny 81-59.

Toledo, led by Jim Cox' 29 points, moved out to a 42-19 half-time lead and was ahead by 30 points before the reserves took over.

Bowling Green staved off a late Kent drive to win. The Golden Flashes wasted a 33-point performance by Denny Klug.

Don Hill tallied 22 and picked off 15 rebounds to lead the Bobcats over hapless Marshall, Ohio controlled the boards and hit 50 per cent of its floor shots.

Gordie Hutton's driving hook shot with 31 seconds left sealed Dayton's second victory of the season over Duquesne after the Flyers blew an 11-point lead with eight minutes to go.

Louisville's Jadie Frazier hit a layup with only two seconds left in overtime to sink Xavier. The Muskies' Steve Thomas led all scorers with 24 while Frazier and John Reuther paced Louisville with 16 each.

MT Panthers, Falcons Provide Cage Opposition for Tigers

The last of Circleville High School's week-end doubleheader cage contests is scheduled with Miami Trace appearing here tomorrow and Franklin Heights hosting the Tigers Saturday.

The Tigers have had four such twin bills slated, three of them coming in the last four weeks of the season.

Miami Trace is second in the South Central Ohio League, having lost two games to Wilmington, the league leaders.

Last week the rugged Panthers downed Hillsboro and Franklin Heights on successive nights, while Circleville was splitting a pair with Washington C. H. and Pleasant View.

IN A PREVIOUS tilt with Miami Trace, the Tigers were defeated 61-40 in the Panthers' new gymnasium. Carl Weaver, the league's leading scorer tallied 26 markers against the Red and Black in that game.

The Panthers, 9-2 in the league, are assured of at least a tie for second place in loop competition. Third place Pleasant View has a 6-5 record.

Circleville, still in contention in the mid section of the SCO, has a 4-7 slate in the circuit.

Franklin Heights owns only one win in the South Central loop. In the opening game the Falcons banded Greenfield a 56-53 loss. Since then they have lost 10 consecutive tilts in league competition.

Circleville posted a 68-55 win when the Tiger gym was invaded by the Falcons Jan. 4.

Other games around the league Friday find Washington C. H. at Greenfield, Pleasant View at Wilmington and Hillsboro at Franklin Heights.

ON SATURDAY Washington C. H. invades the Miami Trace hardwood, Wilmington travels to Hillsboro and Greenfield plays at Pleasant View. League leading Wilmington has the toughest weekend slate.

Third place Pleasant View is one of the most improved basketball teams in the league and their controlled offense is designed to slow down fast breaking teams like the Hurricane.

A game at Hillsboro is always tough. The tiny Indian gym offers the Highland County cagers a definite advantage.

Ice Fishermen Net 11 per Hour

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Luck of the ice fishermen in the Sandusky Bay area of Lake Erie has been pinpointed in a survey conducted by the Division of Wildlife fish management workers.

The survey was centered at Ice Shanty Town, the area around the Bass Islands, and showed that anglers are averaging about three pounds of fish an hour, or 11 actual fish.

The survey began Jan. 1. The first 880 anglers had caught 9,505 pounds of perch, or about 57,000 fish. Some smelt averaging eight

U.S. Davis Cup Prospects Soar

Australia's Grip Is Seen Broken

NEW YORK (AP)—"This is our year for the Davis Cup," an enthusiastic Chuck McKinley said today. "If we don't go all the way this time, we ought to be drawn and quartered."

Removal of grand slam champion Rod Laver from the amateur ranks has brought a new spark of hope to Uncle Sam's battered Davis Cup forces, stopped short of the challenge round for the third year in a row.

If the United States is to crack Australia's grip on the big silver trophy, McKinley apparently is the young man to do it.

No. 1 ranked nationally, he is busy this week defending his National Indoor tennis championship at the Seventh Regiment Armory in the first step of a campaign which he hopes will carry him to the Wimbledon title and later into the Davis Cup wars in Australia.

"I don't know how many times I have played Roy Emerson," he said, in referring to the Australian whom he must beat out if he is to succeed Laver as top man of the amateurs. "Over-all, I'd say I have beaten him as much as he has beaten me, although he had the edge last year."

McKinley said the U.S. should have a strong team.

"Frank Froehling (McKinley's teammate at Trinity University in Texas) and Dennis Ralston of the University of Southern California are both playing great tennis," he said.

"We should beat the Mexicans because we play in the United States. Nobody in Europe can lick us and India has a one-man team—Ramanathan Krishnan. So we go to Australia and bring back the cup."

McKinley won his opening match in the indoor Wednesday night trimming left-handed John Sharpe, an Australian attending Pan American College in Texas, 8-6, 6-2. Other seeded domestic players to survive included Whitney Reed of Oakland, Calif., No. 2, winner over Bob Barker of Mahanet, N.Y., 6-2, 6-4.

Emerson led the foreign contingent with an easy 6-1, 6-2 triumph over Bill Scarlett of Cedar Grove, N.J.

Michigan State soccer teams show 50 victories against five defeats and three ties in the last seven seasons.

inches were included in the catch as were a few walleyes averaging 10½ inches.

Yank Relief Hurler Shot By Woman

PORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Marshall (Sheriff) Bridges, ace relief pitcher of the New York Yankees, was listed in fair condition at Broward General Hospital today as police questioned a woman they said shot him in the left leg after "some sort of argument."

Police said the wound was not serious, but Yankee officials said Bridges could be sidelined for two months.

The shooting occurred shortly after 10 p.m. Wednesday night, at a Negro club known as the Pride of Fort Lauderdale Elks Lodge.

Bridges is a Negro.

Police booked a woman identified as Carrie Lee Rysor on a charge of aggravated assault in connection with the shooting.

A patron at the club, Erskine Hepburn, said he drove Bridges to the hospital after the shooting.

He was sitting next to Bridges and Miss Rysor when the shooting occurred, he said.

"I heard a shot, looked around and saw Bridges fall to the floor," Hepburn said. "I helped him to my car and drove him to the hospital. All the way to the hospital he kept telling me to call the hotel and get in touch with Yankee Manager Ralph Houk."

Wittenberg Keeps Top Cage Rating

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wittenberg of Ohio continued to hold the No. 1 position in the Associated Press small college basketball poll today after scoring victories over Akron and Capital last week to lift its record to 16-1.

Wittenberg collected five first place votes and 71 points in the balloting by the panel of eight regional board members. Grambling of Louisiana, which trounced Prairie View 111-59 to avenge an earlier setback, moved up two notches to second place.

The loss dropped Prairie View, sixth a week ago, out of the first 10.

Nicklaus' Ouchy Hip May Hold Key In Tucson Open

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—The outcome of the 1963 Tucson Open Golf Tournament which begins today on the 49er Country Club course may well depend on whether it gives Jack Nicklaus a pain.

Nicklaus, the only 1963 tourney winner in the field, was sidelined from the Pro-Am preliminary Wednesday because of bursitis in his left hip. But some medical treatment and the clearing weather were expected to ease the pain enough for the pre-tourney favorite to tee off along with some 200 other pros and 10 amateurs.

Nicklaus, reigning U.S. Open champion, placed third in the Phoenix Open behind Arnold Palmer and Gary Player Tuesday. Palmer, who also won the Los Angeles tournament, and Player, who took the San Diego Open, are not playing in the Tucson event. Nicklaus won the Palm Springs Open two weeks ago, beating Player in a playoff.

Grambling End Signs Contract with Browns

CLEVELAND (AP)—Clifton McNeill, a flanker for Grambling (La.) College, has signed a 1963 contract with the Cleveland Browns.

McNeill, 22, was the Browns' 11th draft choice a year ago when he still had a year of college eligibility left. The 6-foot-3, 185-pound receiver from Mobile, Ala., also played defensive safety for Grambling.

Last season McNeill caught 17 passes for 270 yards and four touchdowns.

East Cancels Mat Meeting With Tigers

Sectional Matches Are Slated To Start Feb. 22 at Whitehall

Circleville High School wrestling coach Dave LaBounty announced today that Columbus East has cancelled Saturday's scheduled meet with the Tigers.

LaBounty said the East officials said only they wished to cancel for financial reasons.

The Tiger wrestling mentor said he had not been able to schedule another match Saturday, although he had been trying to contact Lancaster High School.

The sectional matches of the Central District tournament begin Feb. 22. Wrestling coaches from the 34-school central district are scheduled to meet Feb. 20 at Whitehall High School to complete plans for the tourney.

Pat McMillian, director of the Central District, announced today that attempts will be made at the gathering to seed four wrestlers in each of the 11 weight classifications.

There are five defending champions in the district: Aziz Dero of Franklin Heights, John Holloway of Pleasant View, Alan Rosenblum of Whitehall, Tim Mogan of Circleville and Don Pinkston of Walnut Ridge. Franklin Heights is the defending team champion.

Pit '5' Gains Revenge on Mountaineers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pitt's Panthers may have won bigger games or scored victories that were more satisfying. But not this season. That's for sure.

Two weeks ago at Pitt, the Panthers lost a heart-breaking one-point decision to West Virginia, 68-67, when a potential winning field goal with one second left was not allowed.

The Panthers, unranked nationally but one of the country's better independents, made up for that one with a 69-68 triumph at West Virginia Wednesday night.

Paul Krieger dropped in two free throws with 12 seconds left to provide the tying and winning points as the Panthers advanced their record to 15-4 for the season.

Duke and Georgia Tech protected their positions in the top ten rankings, but each had trouble doing it. Third-ranked Duke won it 12th in a row in a 79-74 edge over Virginia at Charlottesville and 10th ranked Georgia Tech broke out of a two-game losing slump at the expense of Vanderbilt, 69-62.

In some of the other major games Tennessee State upset St. Bonaventure 86-85; Notre Dame crushed Gannon 82-47; South Carolina whipped Furman 67-56; Navy blasted Rutgers 92-60; Villanova routed St. John's 82-32; Dayton edged Duquesne 58-57; and Davidson beat Richmond 72-57.

Knicks Record New Mark in Cage Futility

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New York Knicks seem to be setting new marks for futility in the National Basketball Association this season.

As Eastern Division tail-enders, the Knicks have managed to win only 16 of 60 games so far. Loss No. 44 came Wednesday night the hard way—the Knicks had a three point lead and the ball in their possession with 15 seconds to go, and blew it to the St. Louis Hawks 103-102.

Up at the other end of the standings, the Los Angeles Lakers, leaders in the West, rallied for a 134-128 victory over the Boston Celtics, Eastern pacesetters. The Cincinnati Royals beat the Syracuse Nats 124-122 at Indianapolis and the Detroit Pistons nipped the San Francisco Warriors 134-132 in overtime in other NBA games.

Cliff Hagan netted the Hawks' last four points at New York, hitting the winner, on a jump shot with one second to go as St. Louis overhauled the Knicks.

Boxing Is Freed Of Gangland Tie

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Legitimate boxing is breathing easier—Frankie Carbo probably won't be back.

The onetime underworld boxing lord will stay in federal prison because the U.S. Court of Appeals affirmed Wednesday his conviction for conspiracy and extortion.

Two Carbo henchmen, Frank (Blinky) Palermo and Joseph Sica, will go to prison because their similar convictions were upheld. The court also affirmed the suspended sentence of Truman Gibson Jr., but overturned the conviction of Louis Tom Dragna.

The five had been convicted in Los Angeles Federal Court for trying to muscle in on earnings of Don Jordan just after Jordan won the world welterweight title in December, 1958.

Jaipur, 3-year-old champion of 1962, won the Gotham Stakes, the Withers, Belmont, Choice and Travers.

Toledo Leads Mid-Am Chase

Rockets, BeeGees Both Chalk Wins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Determined Toledo held first place in the wild Mid-American Conference scramble today.

The Rockets took over sole possession of the top spot Wednesday night with a surprisingly easy 80-44 victory over Western Michigan. The important win boosted Toledo's league record to 6-2 while the Broncos slipped to third with a 5-3 showing.

Bowling Green stayed right in the thick of things by topping Kent State 59-55. The Falcons are even with Toledo in the games department with a 7-3 mark but have a .700 average, compared to the Rockets' .750.

In another MAC tiff, Ohio University kept its slim hopes for a title alive by trouncing last-place Marshall 93-73.

In other headlines, Louisville nipped Xavier 70-68 in overtime, Dayton shaded Duquesne 53-37, St. Francis (Pa.) edged Steubenville 72-68 and Ohio Wesleyan downed Denison 60-55.

Elsewhere, Findlay turned back Central Michigan 83-74, Tri-State (Ind.) clipped Defiance 82-79, Ohio Northern battered Hillsdale (Mich.) 78-51 and Case Tech romped over Allegheny 81-59.

Toledo, led by Jim Cox' 29 points, moved out to a 42-19 halftime lead and was ahead by 30 points before the reserves took over.

Bowling Green staved off a late Kent drive to win. The Golden Flashes wasted a 33-point performance by Denny Klug.

Don Hilt tallied 22 and picked off 15 rebounds to lead the Bobcats over hapless Marshall. Ohio controlled the boards and hit 50 per cent of its floor shots.

Gordie Hatton's driving hook shot with 31 seconds left sealed Dayton's second victory of the season over Duquesne after the Flyers blew an 11-point lead with eight minutes to go.

Louisville's Jodie Frazier hit a layup with only two seconds left in overtime to sink Xavier. The Muskies' Steve Thomas led all scorers with 24 while Frazier and John Reuther paced Louisville with 16 each.

MT Panthers, Falcons Provide Cage Opposition for Tigers

The last of Circleville High School's week-end doubleheader cage contests is scheduled with Miami Trace appearing here tomorrow and Franklin Heights hosting the Tigers Saturday.

The Tigers have had four such twin bills slated, three of them coming in the last four weeks of the season.

Miami Trace is second in the South Central Ohio League, having lost two games to Wilmington, the league leaders.

Last week the rugged Panthers downed Hillsboro and Franklin Heights on successive nights, while Circleville was splitting a pair with Washington C. H. and Pleasant View.

IN A PREVIOUS tilt with Miami Trace, the Tigers were defeated 61-40 in the Panthers' new gymnasium. Carl Weaver, the league's leading scorer tallied 26 markers against the Red and Black in that game.

The Panthers, 9-2 in the league, are assured of at least a tie for second place in loop competition. Third place Pleasant View has a 6-5 record.

Circleville, still in contention in the mid section of the SCO, has a 4-7 slate in the circuit.

Franklin Heights owns only one win in the South Central loop. In the opening game the Falcons handed Greenfield a 56-53 loss. Since then they have lost 10 consecutive tilts in league competition.

Circleville posted a 68-55 win when the Tiger gym was invaded by the Falcons Jan. 4.

Other games around the league Friday find Washington C. H. at Greenfield, Pleasant View at Wilmington and Hillsboro at Franklin Heights.

ON SATURDAY Washington C. H. invades the Miami Trace hardwood, Wilmington travels to Hillsboro and Greenfield plays at Pleasant View. League leading Wilmington has

U.S. Davis Cup Prospects Soar

Australia's Grip Is Seen Broken

NEW YORK (AP)—"This is our year for the Davis Cup," an enthusiastic Chuck McKinley said today. "If we don't go all the way this time, we ought to be drawn and quartered."

Removal of grand slam champion Rod Laver from the amateur ranks has brought a new spark of hope to Uncle Sam's battered Davis Cup forces, stopped short of the challenge round for the third year in a row.

If the United States is to crack Australia's grip on the big silver trophy, McKinley apparently is the young man to do it.

No. 1 ranked nationally, he is busy this week defending his National Indoor tennis championship at the Seventh Regiment Armory in the first step of a campaign which he hopes will carry him to the Wimbledon title and later into the Davis Cup wars in Australia.

"I don't know how many times I have played Roy Emerson," he said, in referring to the Australian whom he must beat out if he is to succeed Laver as top man of the amateurs. "Over-all, I'd say I have beaten him as much as he has beaten me, although he had the edge last year."

McKinley said the U.S. should have a strong team.

"Frank Froehling (McKinley's teammate at Trinity University in Texas) and Dennis Ralston of the University of Southern California are both playing great tennis," he said.

"We should beat the Mexicans because we play in the United States. Nobody in Europe can lick us and India has a one-man team—Ramanathan Krishnan. So we go to Australia and bring back the cup."

McKinley won his opening match in the indoor Wednesday night trimming left-handed John Sharpe, an Australian attending Pan American College in Texas, 8-6, 6-2. Other seeded domestic players to survive included Whitney Reed of Oakland, Calif., No. 2, winner over Bob Barker of Mahasset, N.Y., 6-2, 6-4.

Emerson led the foreign contingent with an easy 6-1, 6-2 triumph over Bill Scarlett of Cedar Grove, N.J.

Michigan State soccer teams show 50 victories against five defeats and three ties in the last seven seasons.

Yank Relief Hurler Shot By Woman

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Marshall (Sheriff) Bridges, ace relief pitcher of the New York Yankees, was listed in fair condition at Broward General Hospital today as police questioned a woman they said shot him in the left leg after "some sort of argument."

Police said the wound was not serious, but Yankee officials said Bridges could be sidelined for two months.

The shooting occurred shortly after 10 p.m. Wednesday night, at a Negro club known as the Pride of Fort Lauderdale Elks Lodge.

Bridges is a Negro. Police booked a woman identified as Carrie Lee Rayson on a charge of aggravated assault in connection with the shooting.

A patron at the club, Erskine Hepburn, said he drove Bridges to the hospital after the shooting.

He was sitting next to Bridges and Miss Rayson when the shooting occurred, he said.

"I heard a shot, looked around and saw Bridges fall to the floor," Hepburn said. "I helped him to my car and drove him to the hospital. All the way to the hospital he kept telling me to call the hotel and get in touch with Yankee Manager Ralph Houk."

Wittenberg Keeps Top Cage Rating

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wittenberg of Ohio continued to hold the No. 1 position in the Associated Press small college basketball poll today after scoring victories over Akron and Capital last week to lift its record to 16-1.

Wittenberg collected five first place votes and 71 points in the balloting by the panel of eight regional board members. Grambling of Louisiana, which trounced Prairie View 111-59 to avenge an earlier setback, moved up two notches to second place.

The loss dropped Prairie View, sixth a week ago, out of the first 10.

Nicklaus' Ouchy Hip May Hold Key In Tucson Open

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—The outcome of the 1963 Tucson Open Golf Tournament which begins today on the 49er Country Club course may well depend on whether it gives Jack Nicklaus a pain.

Nicklaus, the only 1963 tourney winner in the field, was sidelined from the Pro-Am preliminary Wednesday because of bursitis in his left hip. But some medical treatment and the clearing weather were expected to ease the pain enough for the pre-tourney favorite to tee off along with some 200 other pros and 10 amateurs.

Nicklaus, reigning U.S. Open champion, placed third in the Phoenix Open behind Arnold Palmer and Gary Player Tuesday. Palmer, who also won the Los Angeles tournament, and Player, who took the San Diego Open, are not playing in the Tucson event. Nicklaus won the Palm Springs Open two weeks ago, beating Player in a playoff.

Grambling End Signs Contract with Browns

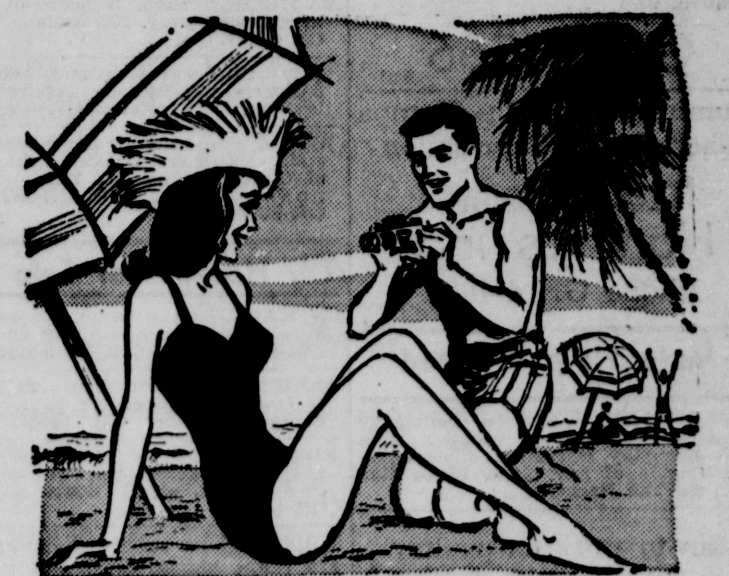

CLEVELAND (AP)—Clifton McNeill, a flanker for Grambling (La.) College, has signed a 1963 contract with the Cleveland Browns.

McNeill, 22, was the Browns' 11th draft choice a year ago when he still had a year of college eligibility left. The 6-foot-3, 185-pound receiver from Mobile, Ala., also played defensive safety for Grambling.

NEW YORK (AP)—An off-beat and intriguing program, "A Dickens Chronicle," turned up on CBS Wednesday night. Obviously inspired by the Broadway hit musical, "Twelve," and perhaps the 151st anniversary of Charles Dickens' birth, the program presumed a renewed curiosity about the Victorian author.

The program wove together some of the famous Dickens characters—Mr. Micawber, Mr. Pickwick and Mrs. Nickleby among others—with a dramatized account of the author's tempestuous and rather disorderly life. Somehow, it worked out very well.

Bob Hope, who has been doing only occasional specials for the past couple of seasons, is expected back next year as a Friday night regular on NBC. Jackie Gleason, who has been playing it hot and cold about another CBS season, has agreed and will return again on Saturday nights.

The most recent Nielsen ratings—for the last two weeks of January—still give CBS shows a commanding lead. "Beverly Hills" is still the top show, followed by ABC's "Ben Casey." Then follows CBS' "Candid Camera," Red Skelton, "The Lucy Show," NBC's "Bonanza"; CBS' "Gunsmoke," Danny Thomas, Andy Griffith and No. 10, NBC's Bob Hope's Christmas Show.

Recommended tonight: "Blow High, Blow Clear," ABC, 10-11 (Eastern Standard Time)—Tommy Sands in a drama about a trumpet player.

Penn State's 1962 cross country team was undefeated.

World Series Of Golf Due In Akron Again

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Akron's Firestone Country Club again will be the site of the World Series of Golf this year, television producer Walter Schwimmer of Chicago announced today.

Schwimmer conceived the idea mainly for television last year and came up with a natural—a head-to-head match among the big three of golf, Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Gary Player. Nicklaus, who qualified for the 36-hole competition by winning the U.S. Open in a playoff with Palmer, won the $50,000 first prize with a 5-under-par 135 total for the two rounds. Palmer, British Open and Masters champion, and Player, the U.S. PGA king, tied for second with 139, and each won $12,500.

Schwimmer indicated much the same formula for determining the qualifiers would be followed this year, although he added he was working on an undisclosed "interesting arrangement" to assure a four-man field. For last year's inaugural, the plan was to match the winners of the world's four major championships—the U.S. and British Opens, the PGA and the Masters. Palmer trimmed the field to three by winning two of the titles.

Gimpy Leg Fails To Curb Utah Cager

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Allen Holmes of the University of Utah is perhaps the best one-legged basketball player in the country. With Billy (The Hill) McGill, Holmes gave Coach Jack Gardner a great scoring punch — McGill hooking them in from every angle off the clever passing and play-making of Holmes.

Then on Aug. 7, 1960 Holmes was seriously hurt in an auto accident. He was alive but his leg was mangled.

Holmes spent five months in a hospital. His sports career was surely over but Gardner visited him regularly.

Holmes began plotting his comeback. He would work hard with the gimpy leg, even try to work out with the team in a year or so. But it seemed he could be little more than a mascot.

But by mid-season Holmes was ready to go. Gardner put him in for a sentimental 30 seconds against Arizona State and he scored a basket.

Against Denver he got 17 points, then 17 against Wyoming and a standing ovation.

Teammates call Holmes their inspiration and agree that without him the current Utah record of 10-11 would be worse.

45,000 Non-Automobile Mishap Deaths Noted

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's accidents in 1962, not including those involving automobiles, killed 45,000 persons, says the National Safety Council.

The death toll was 3 per cent above the 1961 total of 43,500 persons killed in accidents in homes and public places. The council said 6.3 million persons suffered disabling injuries in accidents in 1962.

Traffic accidents last year cost the lives of 41,000 persons, a record high.

Rights Panel Studies Ban By Cemetery

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Civil Rights Commission is expected to act Feb. 20 on a recommendation by one of its examiners that it order an Akron cemetery to accept the body of a Negro woman.

Hearing examiner Jack G. Day heard testimony recently on a complaint by Mrs. Ann Smith of Akron. She complained that the Rose Hill Burial Park was violating the Public Accommodations Law by refusing to sell her a lot for burial of her grandmother, Mrs. Annie Wasler.

The cemetery operators contended their business is of a private nature and they were entitled to maintain restrictions.

Mrs. Wasler's body has been kept in a crypt for several months.

Day, a Cleveland attorney, said that in his opinion the state's Public Accommodations Law applies to burial grounds. He recommended that the commission issue cease-and-desist orders against the burial park, requiring it to refrain from discriminatory practices.

Journalism Critics Said 'Uninformed'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A publications executive says American journalism has received more uninformed and irrelevant criticism than anything else in modern life.

The executive, Bernard Kilgore, president of Dow Jones & Co., Inc., advised the critics to "look before you lash."

His remarks were read to an audience at Ohio State University Wednesday because Kilgore was unable to appear in person for the 10th Maxwell Memorial Lecture.

According to Dow Jones, which publishes the Wall Street Journal and other financial news services, Kilgore suffered a dislocated shoulder in a fall at his New York office Tuesday.

In the lecture, Kilgore said, "I don't see why the metropolitan press should be criticized for shrinking when its market is shrinking."

Journalism has undergone a revolution fomented by four main forces — television, magazines, population changes and specialization, Kilgore said. He added that newspapers are going to have to adjust to this revolution.

Scout Leaders Attend Meet

Pickaway District Scouting was well represented at the Council Operating Committee dinner meeting in the Columbus Nationwide Insurance Building Tuesday evening with all committee representatives.

Attending were Harry Diehl, chairman; Earl Palm, finance; Jesse Huffer, organization and extension; Charles Hart, health and safety; Charles Winner, advancement; Gene Dowler, camping and activities; and David Amos, public relations.

Slides were viewed showing progress at the new Camp Greenhills near Logan. A Central Ohio Council Scout will win a free week at Greenhills for furnishing the winning health and safety slogan for the new camp. Entries should be sent to David Amos, Box 284, Circleville, by June 1.

Slide shows on Camp Lazarus, Philmont Scout Ranch, canoeing in the Canadian wilderness, and the "communities of Nature" section of the Boy Scout Handbook narrated and shown by David Amos and Mrs. Stephen Amos are available by calling GR 4-2886 or GR 4-4883.

The Region 4 annual report will be presented to Governor Rhodes by a Toledo Scout at 10 a. m. on February 22.

The next Council Program and Budget Planning Conference, for all Scouters, will be Tuesday, April 9, at a time and place to be announced.

Pickaway Grange Report

STAR GRANGE
Fifty-two members and guests registered and were presented with a Valentine program when they assembled for open house at Star Grange Tuesday evening in the Monroe School auditorium.

A covered dish supper preceded the meeting.

Worthy Master Carroll Reid welcomed the guests and gave a few well chosen remarks. Harold Furniss, lecturer opened the program with the group singing, "Home in the Grange."

Mrs. Herman Porter gave an interesting history of the grange and told facts concerning the early activities of Star Grange. There were nine charter members present and they stood to be recognized.

Janet, Joyce and Jimmy Davis played a piano trio, "With Flying Colors" and a word maze contest was enjoyed with all present taking part. Janet and Joyce Davis received a prize for the most correct answers.

Jerry Magec played two accordion solos, "My Wild Irish Rose" and a polka. Mrs. Lloyd Neff gave a reading, "Then Laugh." The Five Points Methodist Church Choir under the direction of Mrs. William Davis sang, "In His Care." Pat Dawson gave a reading, "Lincoln" and Mrs. Francis Furniss, chaplain, gave the closing thought, "The Little Things."

The program closed with group singing, "Day is Dying in the West."

The home economics chairman, Mrs. Francis Furniss, announced that Star Grange will serve a dinner next Tuesday evening at the 4-H and Grange building at the fairgrounds and urged members to help. She also announced that Star Grange will have charge of the Canteen for the Bloodmobile Visit on June 6th.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dennis, members of Star Grange, will observe their 67th wedding anniversary on February 27th and all members and friends were asked to remember them with a card.

SCIOTO VALLEY

The men of the grange treated the women to a 6:30 supper at the Grange Hall Tuesday evening.

The menu consisted of pancakes and sausage, apple sauce, celery, carrots, apple and cherry pie, orange nut bread and coffee. A hearty thank you from the ladies was given by Mabel Fisher.

The nut bread contest was judged by Mrs. Frank Baum. There were ten contestants. Pauline Costlow received first; Leona Berger, second and Virginia Fausnaugh, third.

The Worthy Chaplain, Nellie Bumgarner, draped the charter for a deceased member, Mr. Charles Cordray, which is to remain draped for thirty days.

Resolutions of respect were read by Mabel Fisher for Mr. Cordray. Pickaway County Sheriff Walton Spangler showed a film by the Bell Telephone Company on safety.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Routt and daughter, Diana, moved last week from S. Main St. to the Federal Reservation, Chillicothe. Mr. Routt is a guard at the Reformatory.

David Nogle, employed at Dayton, spent the weekend here with his mother, Mrs. Aseaneath Nogle, and sister, Mary. Miss Karen Hand of Dayton was also a guest of the Nogles.

Mrs. Edwin Hammond, taken to Chillicothe Hospital Sunday, is still undergoing diagnostic tests there. She is in room 319.

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Miss Mary Virginia (Doll) Large, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Large, to A-2C Bill Moss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Moss. They were married in the Chapel on the Base at Sumpster S. C. Saturday at 2:30 p. m. They are living at the Base.

The Eves and Elves Mothers Club will hold a covered dish dinner next Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. Frank Wolfe.

The Kumjoilers Class of Kingston Methodist Church will meet in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Winston Hood 6:30 p. m. Feb. 16 for a covered dish dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Betz and Mrs. Claude Reynolds left by train Tuesday morning for Miami, Fla. They will be guests until Mar. 1 of Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel Brundige.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert McCain hosted a supper party Monday for their daughter Patsy Lynn, who celebrated her 5th birthday. The birthday cake with candles was enjoyed by the great grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Morrison of Circleville, and Patsy's sisters, Vicki and Connie.

MEDIC CHIEF—Establishment of the National Institute of General Medical Sciences, with Dr. Clinton C. Powell (above) as its director, is announced by Surgeon General Luther L. Dayton Gls Finish Hikes

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — An Air Force sergeant and an Army reservist have contributed to the latest craze sweeping the country.

The two Dayton men hiked 50 miles Wednesday in separate jaunts while 10 of their fellow participants fell by the wayside.

Air Force Sgt. H. E. Worley completed a hike of approximately 56 miles in a little over 14 hours while Cpl. William J. Jacobs, 21, an Army reservist, finished his 50-mile trek in about 16 hours.

Worley led a contingent of six servicemen, all assigned to recruitment offices in Dayton, on a path that led to Troy and then back again to Dayton.

Jacobs started his jaunt at Hartwell, a Cincinnati suburb, and stepped the distance to Dayton.
